Announce Development Plan For Howie-In-The Hills Area

by NANCY COWGER

A plan for development of the 497-acre Howie-In-The-Hills property north of the Northwest Toll Road in Hoffman Estates was announced late yesterday afternoon by Village Atty. Edward Hofert.

The plan includes both single and multiple family housing units and commercial property. While Hofert said he could not discuss densities, his prepared statement indicated the plan would stress village water and sewer systems, drainage and traffic control.

Hofert emphasized "the plan will be publicly discussed and the interests of all groups and persons considered" before any action on it is taken.

Village Manager George Longmeyer has been authorized to "hire needed expertise" to study the plan and report to the board. The authorization was given during an executive session held after Monday's village board meeting. Hofert said contracts with a consulting firm will be awarded in open board meetings. He could not estimate consultant costs, and said he would not know fee rates until after firms have been approached.

THE BOARD RECEIVED the Howie plan from Meridian Investment and Development Co. in a private meeting Oct. 3 with Don Kirk, Meridian's vice president in charge of operations. Longmeyer, Hofert, Mayor Frederick Downey and Trustees Ed Hennessy, Bruce Lind, Dyrle Rathman and William Cowin were present. Local representative for Meridian is a subsidiary firm, Allister Construction Co., Oakbrook.

The Meridian plan emphasizes "ownership units, although they would not preclude rental units," said Hofert.

In announcing the plan, Hofert said it "provides for a variety of uses — single family attached, single family detached, various types of multi-family and commercial. The plan seeks to be self-contained," he said.

"I really don't want to talk density, because I think that at this particular point it could be hurtful. This undoubtedly will be discussed much more. It will be publicly discussed much more," said Hofert in response to questions.

The land was purchased by Meridian from the federal receivership holding assets of the bankrupt City Savings Association of Chicago. The sale is contingent on free title and settlement of lawsuits, and Hofert noted pending litigation in Cook County Circuit Court and U.S. Federal District Court, both involving the village. "The acceptance of such a plan by the village would necessarily involve a favorable resolution of any contingent liabilities which might or could result to the village from" those suits, said Hofert.

"THE DEVELOPMENT OF such a plan would undoubtedly place strains on future municipal water service, sewer service and drainage facilities and traffic, in excess of what has heretofore been projected," said Hofert.

"It therefore required an in-depth impact study by village paid experts. It will also involve planning and zoning considerations, appreciation of precedents in this respect and other governments' problems," said Hofert. The consultant will conduct this study.

Hofert emphasized the consultants would be qualified persons, and said "by and large we will be looking at people who we are sure are independent of other people. We want a detached attitude. When the developers pay for anything, immediately the expert people lose objectivity."

Hofert's comments also suggested no news will be forthcoming on the development until after the consultants finish their work.

"Without having these impact studies, comment on any specifics of the plan could prove to be uninformed, and prejudice settlement negotiations" through the courts, said Hofert. "Village trustees and officials have been requested to refrain from comment about the plan until after receipt of these studies," he said.

Teachers, Board Reach Accord On Salary Pact

Negotiators for the board and teachers in High School Dist. 211 reached tentative agreement last night on the 1972-73 teachers' contract, ending talks that began in February.

The two sides reached agreements on a salary scale which will raise the base pay for beginning teachers by $300 to $8,600. The new scale will mean raises for experienced teachers and will place the top pay at $18,275, compared to $17,638 last year.

The contract will be presented to the full Dist. 211 Board for ratification tomorrow night. Officials of the Dist. 211 Education Association, bargaining unit for the teachers, said they will present the package for ratification by the teachers next week.

IN REACHING THE final agreement the teachers agreed to drop a proposal to raise the pay of coaches, department heads and other teachers with extra duty jobs by 3 per cent. The board had said it would not agree to raise the base pay on the salary schedule above $8,550 as long as the extra duty raises were included in their costs.

The two sides had earlier reached agreement on a number of working conditions including guarantees on teacher evaluation, transfer policy and the operation of the curriculum committee. In reaching those agreements the two groups also agreed to negotiate other working conditions, including class sizes, for possible inclusion in the contract next year.

Following the settlement, association spokesman Carl Flaks said, "I think given the conditions that we worked under we accomplished the high priority item of getting working conditions in contract language. I think when the district teachers see other salary agreements ours will be comparable to them."

The district's 471 teachers began work in August without a contract settlement and are now being paid on the 1971-72 salary scale. Teachers who were in the district last year have already received raises called for because of additional experience under that salary scale.

Solve Soil Boring Confusion

Confusion over soil borings for the Schaumburg Civic Center was cleared up this week.

According to Trustee Herbert J. Aigner, chairman of the village development committee, $1,750 was budgeted for soil borings when the project was undertaken.

However, village board members were recently perplexed at receiving a letter from architect Al Eichsteadt in which quotes from three firms were listed.

"At that time we did not know that funds for this had been budgeted and felt it might be an additional item," Aigner explained offering apologies to Eichsteadt.

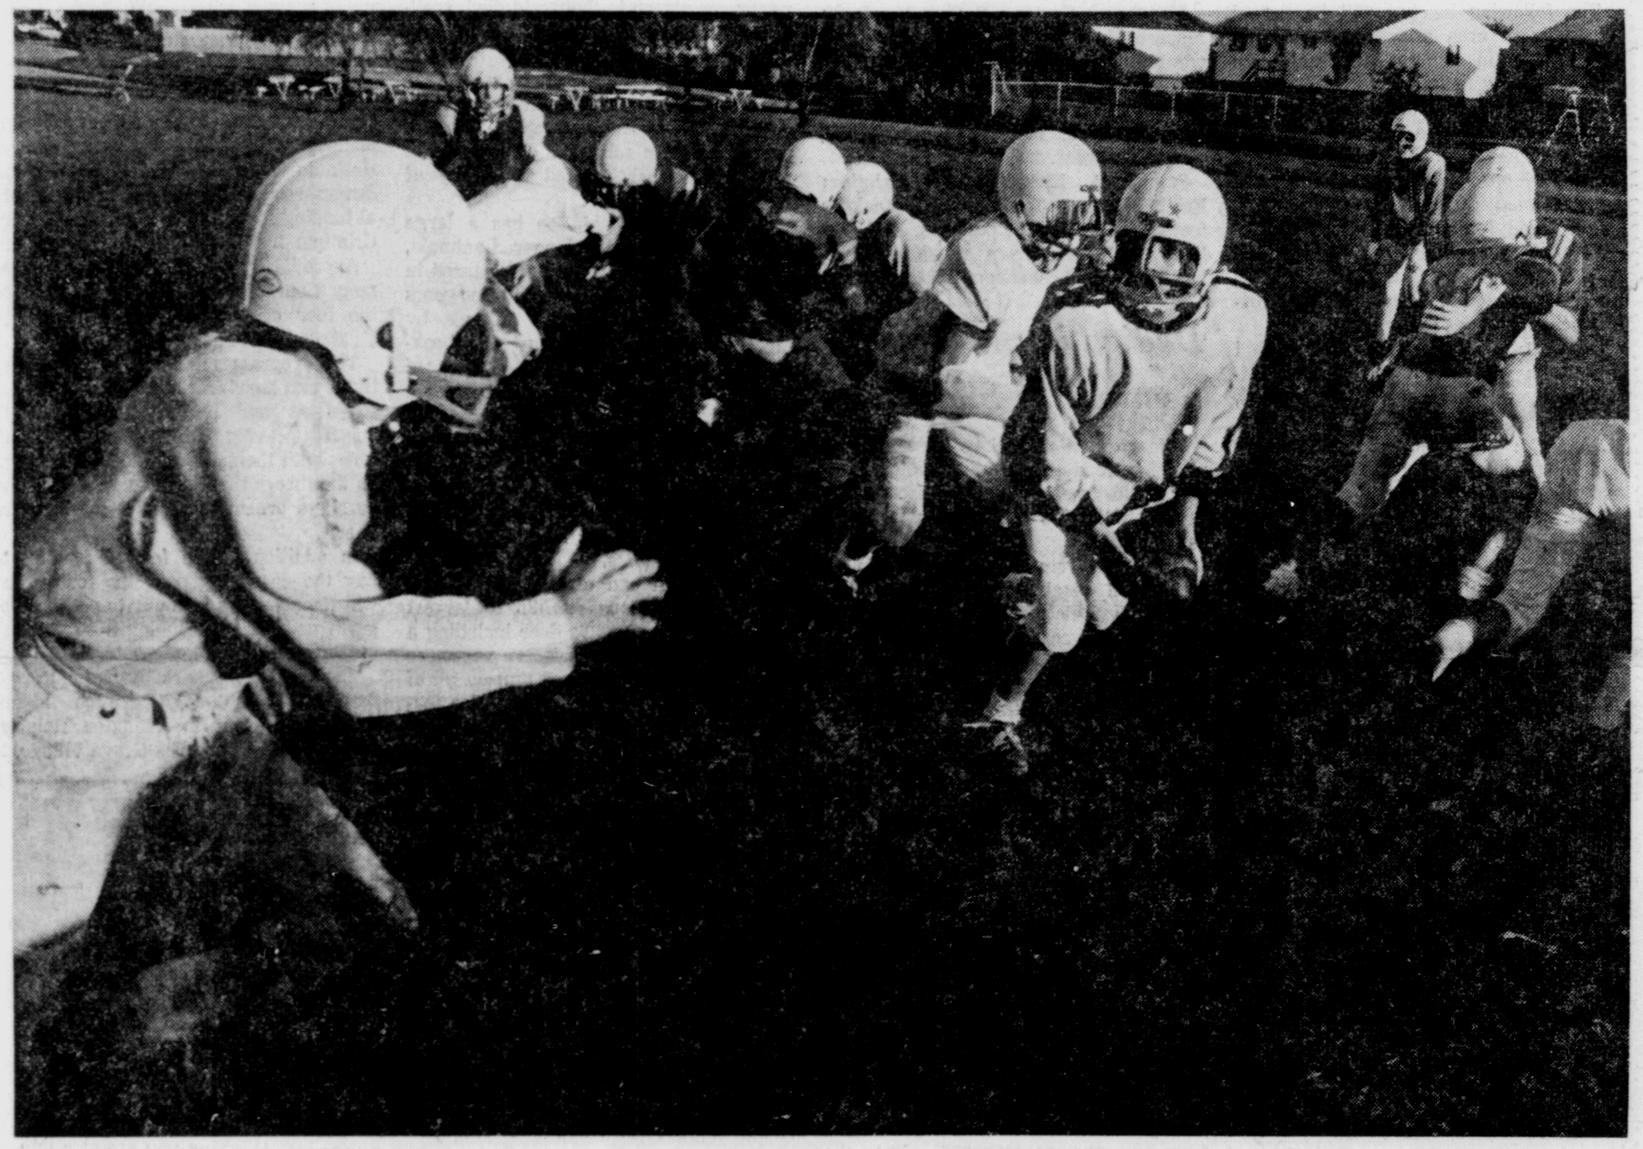

"We thought that because we were being asked to approve something, it was not in our budget," he added.

Bids on the work were received from Novak-Dempsey Associates, Des Plaines; Raymond & O'Brien, Arlington Heights; and Testing Services Corp., Wheaton.

Monday, Aigner directed Village Engineer Joe Zgonina to work with Eichsteadt in selecting one of the three firms for soil testing at the civic center site.

High School Coaches Say Program Overdeveloped

Little League Football Big Business

by STEVE BROWN

Little league football in Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg has become big business, so big in fact that two area high school football coaches feel it has become detrimental to both the boys and the overall development of the sport in the area.

Conant High School Coach Ralph Losee and Robert Ferguson of Schaumburg High School, both said they feel junior football programs in the area are over developed.

"They cater to these kids too much and by the time the youngsters reach high school they are too burned out to play anymore," Ferguson said.

Both men agreed that while the players who do reach the high school ranks are better prepared, many others do not play in high school because of a lack of success in the little league ranks.

THREE FOOTBALL groups, the Hoffman Estates Athletic Association, Hoffman Estates Boys Club and the Schaumburg Boys Football Association, have nearly 900 youngsters playing this season and will spend nearly $60,000.

Both Losee and Ferguson believe that many of the coaches in these programs

Discuss Alleged Slayer Of Pair

Charge Mental Hearing Political

Several members of the Illinois Mental Health Commission charged that yesterday's hearing on hospital discharge procedures for patients who have committed violent acts was held for political purposes only.

The hearing was called last week by State Sen. Esther Saperstein (D-Chicago), chairwoman of the commission. She said the hearing would discuss the Lee Clark Jennings case in particular and procedures for patient discharge in general.

Jennings was arrested Sept. 30 and charged with the murders of Barbara Flanagan, 27, and her 18-month-old daughter Renee. Their bodies were found in the parking lot of Community Presbyterian Church in Mount Prospect.

When the hearing opened, Senator Saperstein said the commission wanted to investigate issues, "raised by the Flanagan murders, mentally ill persons with a history of violent behavior who are released from state custody without proper protection for the public."

The hearings, however, would be concerned only with, "recent general discharge procedures. There would be no discussion on the specific facts of the Flanagan case until after the courts have disposed of the issue," she said.

STATE SENATOR Frank Ozinga, R-Evergreen Park, also a commission member, replied to Senator Saperstein's opening remarks by calling the hearing, "news play for political purposes only."

Commission member State Rep. Charles Fleck, R-13, said that, "at the first mention of Jennings, I will call for adjournment."

Jennings was released from the Illinois Security Hospital in July, 1971, after serving six years for rape and robbery.

After members finished making charges and counter-charges on the value of the hearing the commission listened to testimony from various officials of the department of mental health and the department of correction.

AFTER SOME 2½ HOURS of testimony, Rep. Fleck said much of the information presented had been heard in earlier commission meetings, and he could see no reason, "for continuing redundant and duplicated testimony."

Sen. Ozinga got up, told Sen. Saperstein, "If you'll excuse me I have to be going. I have a press conference I have to go to which is more important than this hearing," and walked out.

The meeting adjourned soon after Sen. Ozinga left.

BETWEEN THE opening and closing arguments by the members, the commission learned that the state correctional mental health facilities are short of full-time psychiatrists.

Hiring more psychiatrists is difficult because the state's pay scale is lower than a psychiatrist could earn in private practice and very few psychiatrists want to live and work in the rural areas where most state facilities are located.

The commission made no recommendations following the testimony. No further hearings were scheduled.

Vanishing Animal Tour At The Zoo

Brookfield Zoo is again hosting a self-guided "Vanishing Animals Tour" through December 20.

The autumn tour was established last year in an effort to familiarize concerned individuals with some of the world's rare and endangered animals whose existence is now being threatened. Many of these animals face the possibility of extinction due to man's interference in nature's balance.

An endangered species is one whose prospects of survival and reproduction are in immediate peril. A species is extinct when not a single individual is left anywhere in the world.

It was as recent as 1913 that the last passenger pigeon in the world died, spelling the death of that species that literally darkened the skies with their numbers just 50 years earlier. Some authorities say that many animals familiar to us today may be extinct in another 25 years unless man can solve the environmental problems he has created for many of these creatures.

Although Brookfield Zoo has a large number of rare and endangered animals, only 10 individual species are featured in the "Vanishing Animals Tour" Zoo-goers will be directed to these animals by means of a sixteen-page illustrated booklet which will be distributed free of charge at the gate. The booklet gives a brief history of each of the featured animals and explains some of the underlying causes of their present plight. It also describes some of the practices now being used by zoos and other conservation organizations to preserve these endangered animals.

At the north end of the zoo, visitors will see one of the world's 10 largest herds of Father David's deer including a female born this spring. There are more of these deer at Brookfield than in all of China, the species' native land. Also featured on the tour are Brookfield's Przewalski horses. It is estimated that less than 50 of these animals are left in their mountainous Mongolian homeland.

As a result of trophy-hunting and habitat destruction, the huge white rhinoceros is also on the endangered list. There are 4000 white rhinos on well-protected reserves in small areas of southeastern and north-central Africa, but beyond the sanctuaries this animal is virtually extinct.

Featured in the Small Mammal Building is the golden lion marmoset, the most exotic and brightly colored species of the primate order. The zoo's pair has produced three sets of twins in the past couple years. Other "vanishing animals" the visitor will see on tour are the bald eagle, South America's spectacled bear, addax, orangutan, alligator and tiger.

At Brookfield, special attention has been given to the breeding of many of these endangered species, and efforts to increase the populations of these animsls have involved breeding loans, construction of experimental habitats, research of behavior and environment and nutritional studies.

Operation I.D. Given Approval

The Operation Identification program planned in the villages of Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates, Hanover Park and Streamwood received approval for federal funding from the Chicago-Cook County Criminal Justice Commission yesterday.

Approval by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission is now needed before the four communities will receive the $1,359.84 federal grant.

The program is aimed at reducing thefts and burglaries in the communities. Residents and businessmen use high-speed engraving pens to mark their valuables with their drivers' license numbers on the theory that items marked with the numbers are more difficult for burglars to sell.

In addition to the federal funding to buy the engraving pens the four towns will finance the manpower to get the program under way, bringing the total cost of the program to $1,699.80.

The commission already has approved funds for another Operation Identification program in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Elk Grove Village.

Local Scouts To Attend Conference

Scouts from this area who belong to the Order of the Arrow, national brotherhood of honor campers, will attend the biennial national conference to be held next August in California.

The Lakota Lodge of the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, expects to have 10 delegates at the conference, according to Lodge Chief Gary Knight, Arlington Heights.

The conference will be held at the University of California at Santa Barbara from Aug. 21 to 24, 1973. This will be the first time the national conference has been held on the West coast.

"When the local Scouts go to the conference, they will join about 4,000 other delegates who will take part in a program that has been created and administered by a group of about 40 young men all under the age of 21," Knight said.

The lodge chief also announced that the Order of the Arrow will provide service corps members for the 1973 National Scout Jamboree to be held at Farragut State Park, Idaho, on Aug. 1-7, and Moraine State Park, Pa., on Aug. 3-9. The service corps will consist of 400 members at each site. Applications for the jamboree service corps are available at the Northwest Suburban Council service center.

Other Lakota Lodge activities this fall include Fall Fellowship, Nov. 3, 4, 5 at Lakota Scout Reservation and the Annual Banquet on Dec. 30.

The Order of the Arrow, founded in 1915, recognizes Scout campers who best exemplify the Scout Oath and Law in their daily lives, develops and maintains camping traditions and spirit, and promotes Scout Camping.

Ambient Recordings

by Ed Landwehr

Many folks ask about "quadraphonic sound" at Landwehr's Home Appliances, 1000 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. It's the most perfect "high fidelity" sound to date, fooling your senses into thinking you are at a live performance.

It is sound picked-up by four microphones and recorded separately, two near the source and two away from the source, generally toward the rear. You hear the sound from four speakers, two in front and two from the rear. The rear speakers create the ambience of the hall. This is as near that you can arrive at "perfect high fidelity" to date.

We service all kinds of electronic equipment in this line, and, of course, TV and radio, too. Phone 255-0700 for more information about it.

Exterior Civic Center Material Not Available

A decision concerning selection of an alternate exterior construction material for Schaumburg's Civic and Cultural Center may soon face the village board.

Rustic fired brick specified for the $1.1 million first phase of the complex will not be available within a one to two-year period, village development committee members learned Monday.

Glen-Gary Corp., Canton, Ohio, manufacturer of the product, has been advised by the federal environmental protection agency (EPA) that production of that tile must cease, Al Eichsteadt, project architect, reported.

Firing of the soft-glaze brick has been found by the EPA to cause pollution and the manufacturer has been put on record that production must stop, Eichsteadt said.

THE PROPOSED CIVIC building "is thoroughly locked-in" to the 12 by 12 inch brick unit, according to the architect, who claims that material would never have been chosen if distribution problems had been anticipated.

Development committee members failed to act on Eichsteadt's recommendation that the village board approve stockpiling sufficient amounts of the material to complete phases one and two of the project.

He estimated cost of advance purchase at about $10,000, and said that Holman Brick Co., Schaumburg, local supplier. has agreed to store brick until needed for construction.

An alernative material also manufactured by Glen-Gary Corp. which has a painted surface wes also offered for consideration by the architect.

At committee request, Eichsteadt plans to visit a building now under construction in Elkhart, Ind., in which that material is being used. He is expected to confer with the committee Saturday and present slides of the building for their consideration.

IN OTHER BUSINESS this week, development committee members agreed to recommend the village board approve an additional $1,150 expenditure for damp-proofing the building.

A tentative working budget of $58,900 was also approved for purchase of furnishings for the building. Details of design and purchase are to be worked out between architects representatives and Village Administrator John Coste.

Still under study are bids for an independent telephone system and paging equipment for the building.

THE CIVIC CENTER is being constructed on half of a 40-acre site donated to the village by William Lambert, who holds extensive properties in the area. It is being financed through voluntary contributions from developers of multi-family housing in the village. Completion of phase one is expected in mid-1973.

The remaining 20 acres will be developed as a cultural center. Planning and development of that area is being handled by a village cultural commission.

Salvation Army Counseled 83 Area Families

The Schaumburg Township outpost of the Salvation Army Family Services provided counseling for 83 families from its establishment in March to the end of August.

A report submitted to the Schaumburg Township Committee on Youth (COY) states most of the counseling sessions concerned parent problems with youth and a few were marital or mental problems.

The Salvation Army officials thanked COY for its cooperation with the agency and acknowledged receipt of $4,200 for its services, the township's portion of payment for staff.

The outpost is located in The Buttery, Schaumburg Township Offices, 105 S. Roselle Rd., Schaumburg, and is staffed one day a week.

COY chairman Mrs. Joyce Kroll appointed Larry Walker, director of youth services, as the official member to represent the township at Bridge staff meetings.

BRIDGE, A Palatine Township supported youth help agency, provides Schaumburg Township with telephone service and counseling for its youth in trade for eight hours of service time by the Schaumburg township youth worker.

Walker is to attend all Bridge staff meetings and is empowered as director to vote on any programs that would effect the service to Schaumburg Township. He also will represent COY.

Schaumburg Township youth outreach worker Jerry Lipsch will not be required to attend staff meetings, said Mrs.Kroll.

Walker said Lipsch has committed himself to one weekend a month of service to the Palatine Township Bridge organization as a personal commitment.

Little League Football Is 'Big Business'

need to be better prepared.

"They place too much interest in winning," Ferguson explained. He added that the attention, publicity and other incentives cannot be equaled by high school programs.

"These teams travel all over the state and sometimes even farther and no higih school team does that," Losee said. He added that the teams play a longer season, sometimes on better fields than many high school football teams.

"High school programs can't compare to this," he said.

Spokesmen for all three groups admit that more clinics and seminars are needed for the coaching staffs. But time seems to be a major limiting factor.

"COOPERATION IS the key to getting high school and the little league coaches together," said Chet Brock of the Schaumburg group.

Brock added that once the season begins, time for such sessions is pretty limited.

In addition to more training for coaches, George Rush of the HEAA and Tony Stompanato join with Brock in explaining the need for financing the programs.

Costs for the football program are made up partially from registration fees. The boys, who are divided into three divisions based on weight and age, pay anywhere from $15 to $30 to play.

Rush said the boys pay about half of the total cost of the programs. He said the HEAA, which is the oldest of the three groups, holds raffles and candy sales and concessions to help raise funds. The other groups rely on similar methods.

STOMPANATO SAID the Boy's Club also receives funds from the United Fund, but this has been decreasing in recent years. He added that in addition to the football program, the registration fee entitles boys to use the club's other facilities throughout the year.

The groups play most of their league games on the weekend at a variety of fields in the area. The Schaumburg association uses Timbercrest Park. The Boys Club and HEAA both use Conant High School for their older groups and Chino and Hillcrest parks respectively for their younger groups.

In addition, all three have traveling teams which play in leagues throughout the Northwest suburbs.

The season for all three programs runs throughout the end of October and each of the group report the season is going well and invite anyone interested in the program to attend the weekend contests.

Board, Police Lauded For Child Safety

Members of the Hoffman Estates Village Board and Police Chief John O'Connell were applauded for responsive action to improve child safety at Monday's special board meeting.

Mrs. Howard Turpin, 134 Carthage Ln., read a letter from the Fairview Elementary School PTA, 146 Arizona Blvd., congratulating the board on its success in rerouting buses from Conant High School, 700 E. Cougar Tr. The PTA, with Mrs. Turpin as spokesman, asked the board to seek the rerouting in mid-September. The buses were endangering the lives of elementary school children walking home from school, the PTA said.

The letter was to "express gratitude for the concern and action that you took in rerouting the Dist. 211 buses . . . We feel we will have a safe and happy year," it said.

The board met in special session because of Columbus Day and a village ordinance deferring regular sessions one day if they would fall on a national holiday under normal scheduling.

Since the fourth meeting in October would fall on Veterans Day, that session will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 24.

The board will consider selecting only special holidays for which the deferred meeting dates will apply.

Because Monday was a holiday, the board conducted only its required business of paying bills and approving minutes of its previous meeting. No session was to be held last night, as provided for in the ordinance.

Park Programs Still Open

The Schaumburg Park District is still accepting registrations for several children's and adult's fall programs.

The following activities are still open to individuals: wrestling; intermediate ballet; arts and crafts; sculpture; indoor tennis for children and adults; skiing for children and adults, and floor hockey. Other activities are boys' touch football, first aid, ceramics, sewing, weaving and a special Christmas crafts program for late fall.

Registrations are being accepted at the Meineke Recreation Center, 220 E. Weathersfield Way, Schaumburg, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Hoffman Estates Beauty Pageant Set

Tickets now are on sale for "A Time for Us," the ninth annual Hoffman Estates beauty pageant presented by Hoffman Estates Jaycees. Tickets can be purchased for $2 from any Hoffman Estates Jaycees member, or at the door.

The pageant, a preliminary for Miss Illinois and Miss America 1973, will be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 21 at the Woodfield Inn entrance to Woodfield Mall.

IT HAPPENS EVERY fall: for the last several years, wives have found themselves football widows on Sunday afternoons when the Chicago Bears are playing in town. Their mates are down at the corner tavern watching the game brought in by high power antennas. All that may end though, if federal officials force an end to television blackouts of football "home" games.

Coordination Of Youth Service Agencies Planned

Sharing information and improvement of services to youth are the motives behind a move to establish a coordinating agency of Northwest suburban youth service agencies, said Elk Grove Township Youth Worker Paul Paprocki.

In accepting Elk Grove Community Services invitation to join a study, Schaumburg Township Director of Youth Services Larry Walker, said it is a concept he has proposed and heartily endorses.

Walker told Committee on Youth members Tuesday he will join other directors at today's 1:30 p.m. organizational meeting at Elk Grove Community Services facility at 700 Beisterfield Rd.

Walker explained Elk Grove Community services is offering its meeting room facility and has offered to host the organizational meetings until the various agencies establish the new unit.

Several youth service organizations in Schaumburg and other townships are now duplicating efforts, said Walker.

"A coordinating agency with representation from all youth service agencies would eliminate duplication of effort and time and provide youth with better services," said Walker.

Walker said youth workers now, on an informal basis, share information. But he stressed better communication between agencies and the sharing of information would benefit them and allow them to better serve youth.

Can We Bear Bears On Home TV?

by MARY HOULIHAN

The neighborhood tavern. Since time immemorial, this sanctuary away from kith and kin, weekend chores and other such crises in life, has held a hallowed spot in the hearts of males. Besides its usual convivial offering of good drink and cheer, the corner bar has also been, in recent years, one of the few places where a fan could see a Chicago Bears home football game.

This has been the case since 1961 when Congress allowed the National Football League (NFL) to black out televised games in the cities where they were being played. The NFL had argued successfully that its financial survival depended on television contracts and on protecting home gate revenues by not televising home contests.

Though a blow to local Bears' fans, the ruling brought an unexpected chance to make money for local tavern owners. Owners pirated games from either Rockford or South Bend, buying expensive ultra-high frequency equipment. And the pirating turned out to be very lucrative. As one tavern owner commented, "When home games are on, there isn't an empty chair in the place."

There is no charge for the advantage of seeing a home game at the local bar. Though tavern owners spend anywhere from $200 to $1000 on the UHF equipment to televise the game, they make up the cost only through the sale of liquor.

LAST WEEK — it appears — a mortal blow might be struck to the corner taverns who pirate the games with the news that President Nixon supports proposed legislation prohibiting professional sports from imposing television blackouts of home games. But from a random survey of local tavern owners, it doesn't seem that anyone is in a state of panic.

To be sure, the tavern owners are not happy about the idea, but they're not planning on declaring bankruptcy because of it either. "We'll miss a few people, but they (meaning the fans) will be here anyway," Ed Weight, manager of the Old Town Inn in Mount Prospect, explained. "We won't be as busy because it won't be a novelty anymore, but win or lose, we'll still get the crazy fans."

Indeed, Weight's opinion seemed to be the general concensus among tavern owners in the area who show Bear's home games on Sundays.

"It will hurt business of course, but again, fellas like to get out and yell and scream and act like little kids," James Di Falco of Jake's Pizza in Elk Grove Village, said. "I don't think they can do that at home."

George Callahan of Cal's Place in Arlington Heights agreed. "What can you do about it?" he asked. "Besides you'll always have customers," he said.

Charles Romano, of Romano's Restaurant in Des Plaines said he is in favor of the blackout, "But eliminating it wouldn't hurt me at all," Romano jokes. "They (the fans) don't enjoy the game at home with their wives. They wouldn't have anyone to argue with. They want to get together and yell and scream at each other. That's boys for you."

THE ONLY establishment showing pirated editions of the Bear's home games that might not make out too well if the blackout is ended is not a tavern, but the Wheeling Park District. The park district bought a UHF antenna last year for about $750. The district asks for a donation of 50 cents for children and $1 for adults. "But this just covers the cost of paying the staff during that time," Dave Phillips, park director explained. Though there is a concession stand run by the district during the game, Phillips said the district just breaks even.

As for the patrons of the bars where pirated games are televised, the opinions on the possible end to the blackout are divided. About half said they will continue to watch the game at the corner tavern. The other half are definitely homebodies.

Dale Malzahn, a patron of the Old Town Inn, is probably the most representative of the tavern-watchers. "I'd much rather watch it (the game) in a bar where I can talk to people," Malzahn said.

Bobby McGregor perhaps explained it better. "I'd rather get out of the house and go drinking," he said.

But the homebodies say watching the game on your own TV has a lot of advantages. "I'm in my own atmosphere and the beers a little freer and a little colder," said Hank DeGeorge of Schaumburg. Robert Pomrening of Chicago concurred: "I like to stay home on Sunday and have Sunday dinner and so forth," he said.

No matter how you change things, there's bound to be someone who's not satisfied however. Asked his reaction to the possible end to the blackout, Jim Bickman, a patron of the Old Town Inn, could only say, "I wouldn't watch the Bears in either place."

Library Landscaping About To Begin

Landscaping of the Schaumburg Township Library site at 32 Library Ln., Schaumburg, should begin this week.

Although construction is still going on to complete the new wing, board members approved a $37,580 landscaping contract submitted by Lawrence Ahlman landscaping firm.

Exterior work on the building is completed, and some sidewalks and entry ramps are finished. However, parking lots and some walks still are being constructed.

Library Arch. Bob Hunter said much beginning work can be started now on inner courts and entry plantings, even if all the concrete work is not completed.

IN ADDITION TO the landscaping, Ahlman proposed dreding the creek bed at the rear lot line for an extra $4,000, and constructing a concrete retaining wall and dirt berm to protect the building from creek overflow.

The library sustained flood damage during two late summer rains. Hunter maintains the building's sump pumps are sufficient to handle normal rainfalls, but a creek overflow would flood the building.

He stressed the library's plan to protect its building with a dirt berm would not increase water flow into the creek or change the flow in any way. The library is taking care of any runoff on its property and simply wants to protect itself from future flooding, said Hunter.

The board members agreed the creek needs dredging and approved the dirt berm and wall, but did not approve the extra $4,000 charge for dredging.

They will, however, investigate the possibility that state funding is available to dredge the creek.

COY Sets Absence Policy

Three absences in a row and you're out as a Schaumburg Township Committee on Youth Member, chairman Mrs. Joyce Kroll said Monday.

Mrs. Kroll called the Monday COY meeting to order — 45 minutes later than the scheduled 8 p.m. meeting time — saying no official action could be taken that night.

A lack of quorum, (the minimum number of four members required to be present at each session before it can validly transact business) is a common COY problem, she complained.

She noted only two members, herself and Mrs. Barbara Arnold, were present at the session, and not all of the other five members had notified her they would be absent.

Mrs. Kroll stressed COY by-laws will be strictly adhered to in the future, and said if a member is absent from three consecutive meetings without notice or good reason. he will be automatically dropped from committee.

SHE ADDED the 8 p.m. meeting time also will be strictly adhered to. "We will start with or without a quorum, on time in the future," she said.

Members of the committee who were absent at the session are Mrs. Jenny Burson, John Karstrom, Tom Ryan, Dan Stowe and Ron Persche.

The next COY session is at 8 p.m. Nov. 13 in the Schaumburg Township Public Library meeting room at 32 Library Ln., Schaumburg.

Atcher To Take Part In Groundbreaking

Schaumburg Mayor Robert O. Atcher and other area dignitaries will assist with the official groundbreaking of the new addition to the Laminating and Coating Corp. facilities in Schaumburg.

The ceremony is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. tomorrow according to a spokesman. The facility is at 1228 E. Tower Rd. in the Schaumburg Industrial Park in Schaumburg.

Friends Of Library Present Production

The Friends of the Library production of the "Duchess of Malfi," recently presented in the Schaumburg Township Public Library theater in the round netted the library $112 in ticket sales. The proceeds will be used for the library.

Board Member Joseph McAuliffe, who directed and starred in the production, said benefit and regular performances were well received.

The cast has agreed to present "Duchess of Malfi," again at Judson College in Elgin in November at the students' request, said McAuliffe.

A book sale conducted by the Friends of the Library brought in $195 in profits. "The group's fund-raising efforts to benefit the library have brought in a total of $438 in the past month," said McAuliffe.

Tucson Thinks It Has Near-Perfect Model City

by DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — What is a Model City?

Tucson, Ariz., thinks it has one — and HUD the Department of Housing and Urban Development seems to agree.

The federal agency recently granted the city permission to double the area of Model City development there to 12 square miles in the western end of Tucson. Among the residents of this section, half the families had annual income less than $3,600, half the homes were substandard, and 40 per cent were overcrowded.

Why is Tucson's Model City considered a prototype?

Those who have spearheaded the development over the past two years say it is because Tucson is succeeding in bringing government and private resources to bear not on a single problem such as housing, but on all the elements that cause deterioration in cities throughout the country.

Tucson's Model City program includes:

—New housing.

—Subsidized do-it-yourself improvement of existing homes.

—Shopping centers.

—Parks for greenery and space among the homes.

—IMPROVED STREET lighting for safety and beauty; 22 miles of dirt roads converted to clean, paved streets; improved drainage.

Plans for a mass transit program.

—Improved education: kindergarten classes have been started, and the children are showing the equivalent of two years development in their first year of schooling; bilingual teacher's aides work in the schools with Spanish-speaking children; a bilingual educational television program for children and evening classes for adults have been implemented.

—Improved nutrition: free breakfasts and lunches for all children in the community's schools; free baby formula to assure proper nutrition for infants.

—Better health care: free medical and dental examinations for all school children.

—Child care centers for working mothers.

—FOR THE UNEMPLOYED: they averaged 21 per cent of the area's population, compared with 3.8 per cent for the city as a whole, a program of job and skill training, income maintenance during training, and job placement.

In all this, residents themselves were actively involved in the planning and execution of the program.

It was costly. To date, $8 million of federal, local and private funds have been invested. But authorities are convinced the investment will be paying dividends. One shopping center has added $1.75 million to the tax rolls; another is planned. The rehabilitation has strengthened the city's tax base by boosting by $3 million the values of properties that long had been stagnant and a drain on the financial resources of the city.

One of the motivators of the Tucson Model City was City Manager Roger O'Mara; another was Crossworth C. Lander, director of the Model Cities program. Both give large measure of credit to a Tucson businessman, Martin Ginsburg, who organized the drive and put up private funds.

GINSBURG IS A former vice president of and now consultant to Tekton Corp., Chicago-based builder of middle and low-income housing which was acquired by Union Camp Corp. in 1970.

Tekton has $20 million of housing in Tucson, including the Model Cities project. It completed the first major apartment development in the Tucson project, encouraging other private builders to come into the Cities program. Nearly 1,000 housing units are going up now.

Ginsburg intends, when the Model Cities program expands to its second six-square-mile site, to invest more, either as an individual or with Tekton.

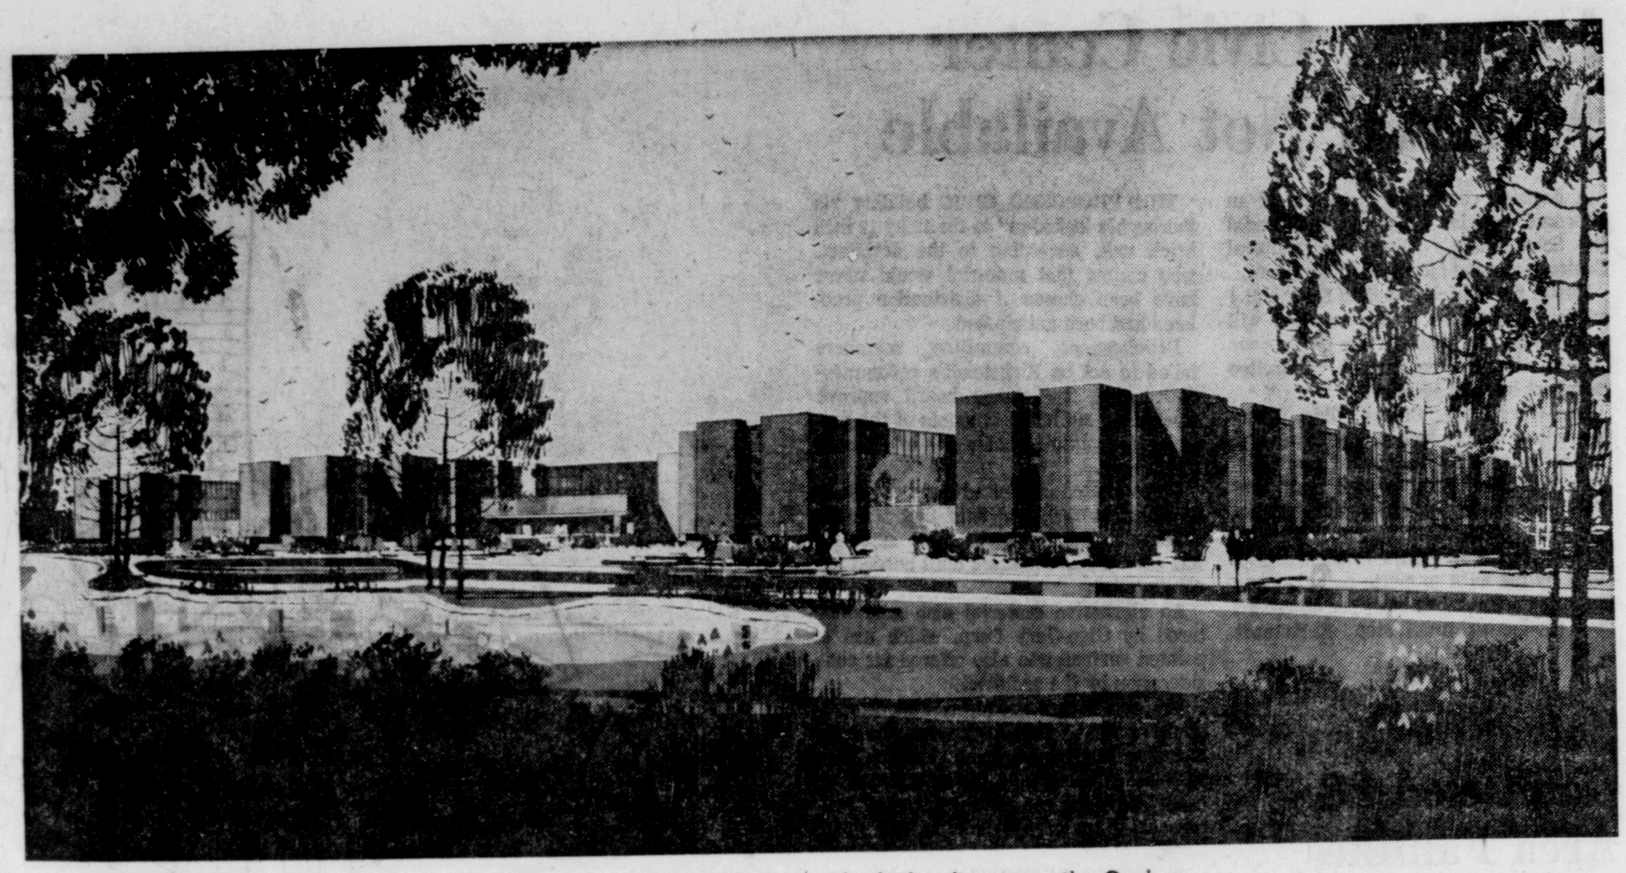

Hospital Offers A Course For Doctors

Area family physicians have been enrolling in a course "Medicine for Today" being offered at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. The course is one of 16 being held throughout the state under the sponsorship of the Illinois Academy of Family Physicians.

The course begins today. The first session will discuss "Renal Diseases." Serving as registrar is Dr. Rudolfo Gonzalez, Glenview physician and a member of the department of family practice at Lutheran General.

Faculty members from the nine medical schools in the state will be teaching the courses. New treatments, new drugs and new diagnostic tools will be covered in the courses.

The Illinois Academy of Family Physicians is part of the American Academy of Family Physicians. This is the second largest medical organization in the nation.

FEDERAL FUNDS being sought to pay part of the $7.4 million cost for this new Men's Work Release Center which is to be built adjacent to the Cook County Jail in Chicago.

Work Release Center Grant OKd

A $2.7 million federal grant to help build a new men's work Release Center for the Cook County Department of Corrections was approved by the Chicago-Cook County Criminal Justice Commission yesterday.

Approval of the funding must now come from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (ILEC).

The grant is the final phase of a two-part application for the center to be built adjacent to the Cook County Jail at 26th Street and California Avenue in Chicago.

The two-story building will include 117,000 square feet, including 352 detention rooms, classrooms, day rooms, visitors' areas and administrative offices. Total cost of the building will be $7.4 million, with up to half of the cost paid out of a jail buildings bond issue approved by voters in 1968.

ILEC already granted a $1 million federal grant for the project in the summer of 1971.

In other action yesterday, the commission approved a grant request to refund a training program for a family treatment unit for probation officers working with county Juvenile court. The cost for the total program is $123,000.

Commissioners also approved a draft of a plan for next year which will delineate priorities in the kids of projects to receive federal funding during the upcoming year. A final copy of the plan will be made public in December.

Just Politics

by Bob Lahey

Illinoisans may be treated to a replay of the reapportionment spectacle of 1971 when the new General Assembly convenes next January.

Legislators appear mostly in agreement that the assembly will need to reopen the question of redrawing legislative district boundaries, in light of the Supreme Court ruling which resulted from challenges to the current voting map.

The court found the districts drawn by the map to be in conformance with the requirements of equal population and to be sufficiently "compact and contiguous" to meet the standards of earlier court rulings.

It ruled, however, that the commission appointed by the legislature to draw the map, consisting of the leadership of the House and Senate and their administrative aides, was improperly constituted.

BECAUSE OF the late hour at which the challenge came to the court, however, the justices allowed the map to stand for the 1972 elections.

The question now is how the 78th General Assembly will approach the matter of making legal what the 77th General Assembly bungled.

The responsibility for redistricting is that of the legislature as a whole, but the appointed commission is authorized if it fails to agree on a plan.

So the question is back in the lap of the legislature.

Resolving it could be as simple as voting approval of the map drawn by the commission, illegal though that body may have been.

ONE SCHOOL of thought says the 177 members of the House and the 59 senators, having all been elected from districts now in existence, will be loath to tamper with the boundaries again — no matter how unhappy they may have been with them before their election.

What that reasoning overlooks is that the possibility of yet another redistricting will be seen by many of our legislators as a possibility to consolidate their strength by getting new districts even more favorable to them.

There is also bound to be pressure from political leaders back home to restore some of the natural boundaries which were shattered by the current map, diluting the strength of their organizations.

THE PRIME question of members of the Wheeling Township Republican Organization, when it was interviewing potential candidates last winter, was whether they would work for new district boundaries which would put their Humpty-Dumpty together again.

Wheeling Township probably suffered as much as any entity in the state, being split into three different districts.

Whether the current map is thrown out and another drawn probably will depend on whether one or the other party gains control of both houses on Nov. 7.

Approximately one-third of the members of both houses will be in their first terms, and Republicans see a chance to control both bodies.

If there is a clear majority in both houses, the ruling party could draw a map largely to its own wishes, and it is difficult to conceive either party bypassing that opportunity.

Even Workers Opposed To McGovern

by DAVID SMOTHERS
UPI Senior Editor

The big precinct captain sitting under the television set at the far end of the bar on Chicago's South Side held up his hand and showed three fingers.

"It's McGovern, Percy and Carey," he said. He sounded disgusted.

He is a good precinct captain, a massive foreman from the steel mills with shoulders big enough to shove four men out of the way, one of the elite corps of political straw bosses who deliver the Democratic vote in Chicago with an efficiency unrivaled anywhere else.

The man (he doesn't want his name used because he wants to keep on being precinct captain) is a white captain in a black precinct. These things happen in changing neighborhoods. He doesn't necessarily like it that way. This year, he doesn't particularly like the way his black people are going to vote.

THAT'S PARTLY understandable. Sen. Charles H. Percy and Bernard Carey are Republicans. Percy looks like a winner over Rep. Roman C. Pucinski among the blacks, the precinct captain said, "because they think Percy got them this federal housing." Carey is running against State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan, who is on trial on charges of covering up the police slayings of two Black Panthers. Hanrahan is not popular among South Side blacks.

But George S. McGovern, he indicated, was really hard to take, Democrat or no Democrat.

The way the precinct captain analyzed the vote might not suit a Washington political analyst. But it reflected a good deal of how the vote — particularly the black vote — is going in Chicago and how a certain kind of precinct captain feels about it.

If his language seems offensive and his statements questionable, the only valid excuse is that the views are his own and frankly stated:

"McGovern — sure I've got to tell them to vote for McGovern. Pull the straight party ticket, that's what I've got to tell them and that's what I do tell them. And they will.

"THEY GO AROUND with their fingers to their lips when they talk, you know, and they say they're going to vote for McGovern because they think they're going to get some of that Kennedy money.

"Sure. They think they're going to get two, three, four dollars a vote.

"I can show you women, good women, who are crocheting things because somehow they think if they do that Rose Kennedy will help them out. They tell each other this guy Eagleton was shafted so that Shriver would get in and they'd get that Kennedy money.

Who's telling them that? Someone is. Not me. I just tell them to pull the straight Democratic lever. I don't have to tell them what I think of that guy McGovern. They can have him."

The precinct captain has rarely been known to quote Scripture, although he does occasionally cite a text from Mayor Richard J. Daley.

"I'm on Mayor Daley's list of captains," he said. "I've been a precinct captain last year, and I am this year, and I will be next year. No matter what happens, I'll be there.

"Now I've got the mayor's invitation for me and the other captains to come down and listen to McGovern in the Sherman House on the 11th.

"I'll go there and listen to the man, but you could come down, too, and eat my lunch for me. I wouldn't care. It's just that, no matter what I tell my people, come Election Day, I can't pull the straight party lever myself.

"McGovern . . . morally, I just can't do it.

"But I can't vote for Nixon, either. I guess I won't vote for president this year."

Dirtiest Political Year Yet?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 1972 political campaigns appear to be the dirtiest in recent years, the Fair Campaign Practices Committee reported.

Committee spokesmen said mid-campaign analysis showed the committee had handled more complaints about dirty politics in the first five weeks of the race than were handled during a comparable period since the committee started keeping statistics.

Since Labor Day, the committee said, it had received 21 complaints of violation of the Code of Fair Campaign Practices.

"This is more than twice as many complaints as we received at the same point in the 1966 campaign year and an increase of 50 per cent over 1968, the last presidential campaign year," said committee Chairman Charles P. Taft. Taft said that on the comparable date in 1970 only 15 complaints had been received.

"Historically, dirty politics always peaks during the last two weeks of the campaign," Taft said. "If the present trend continues, we will have a new high in political low blows during 1972."

The committee handled complaints of violations of the 20-year-old Code of Fair Campaign Practices filed by candidates or their campaign aides in races for president, for seats in the U.S. Senate and House and for governorships. Taft said there were two possible reasons for the surge of complaints.

"First, this appears to be the year for te Great Stamp Robbery," he said. "Already, half way through the 1972 campaign, the committee has received more complaints about members of Congress abusing their free mailing privilege than we received throughout the entire campaign period in previous years.

"Second, this seems to be a negative year with many candidates attacking their opponents' positions instead of taking a positive stand on the issues. A negative attack in a close race most often results in dirty politics."

Lunch Hour 'Parole' For Kids?

by WANDALYN RICE

The problem of whether high school students should be allowed to leave the school grounds during lunch hour has been the subject of some controversy in High School Dist. 211.

It all started late last month when a bunch of students staged a walk-out at Schaumburg High School demanding, among other things, "open campus" — permission to leave the school grounds during lunch.

The school board has a policy against letting the kids leave and a parent has asked them to reconsider it. That's where the issue stands now.

In our newsroom, however, debate has been fairly thick about the whole issue. The reporters seem to have divided fairly evenly between the "I-never-left-school-so-why-should-they" school of thought and the group believing "What-should-the-school-care-where-kids-eat."

Wandalyn Rice

WHICH SIDE A person is on in the debate seems to depend on whether he or she went to a strict or lenient high school. (We are all, of course, experts on education because look how well we turned out.)

In the midst of the discussion, however, one staff member came up with an idea that would, presumably, end all the problems. I can't think of anything wrong with it, none of my fellow reporters can think of anything wrong with it and even two administrators for High School Dist. 214 who heard it can't think of anything wrong with it.

The idea is so simple, so straightforward and so practical there has to be something wrong with it. But I can't think of it, so I'll offer it to you.

Item: When kids leave school during lunch, they generally go off to some local franchised hamburger, hot dog or other cheap food establishment.

Item: The schools now spend a good deal of money equipping kitchens to prepare hot, nourishing meals. They break even on the food, because of subsidies, but they don't make a profit.

ITEM: FRANCHISED food firms, like McDonalds, Burger King, etc., ought to jump at the chance to serve a captive audience of 2,000 to 2,500 hungry teenagers every day.

Solution: Have franchise firms bid on the right to provide food in the high schools, disband the kitchens and let the kids eat hamburgers for the rest of their school lives.

Now, the advantages are obvious. A franchise firm might pay $100,000 or $200,000 for the right to profit off all those kids and the schools would not have to listen to the gripes about food anymore.

Since one of the good points about going off campus to eat is that you can sit in your car, the franchise firms could build restaurants on the school grounds, maybe in one corner of a parking lot, and all the kids could happily drive over and order their lunch.

Just think of it, the golden arches teamed up with schools for the betterment of all. No, on second thought, let's not think of it — we mustn't get carried away.

Because, as I said, there has to be something wrong with the whole idea.

But I'll be darned if I can think of it.

Illinois 4th In Number Of Veterans

Illinois continued to maintain a fourth place rating among the 50 states in the number of veterans, according to a statistical report issued semi-annually by the veterans administration.

Joseph J. Mulone, regional office director of the VA for Illinois, said Illinois has 1,629,000 veterans from all wars as of June, 1972. In addition, the regional office in Chicago also has jurisdiction over 109,000 veterans living in the three northwestern counties of Indiana.

California has the largest number of veterans with 3.1 million; New York is second with 2.6 million; Pennsylvania is third with 1.8 million. Ohio is fifth with 1.593 million. Other states with large numbers of veterans are Texas, 1.4 million; Michigan, 1.2 million; New Jersey, 1.1 million, and Florida, 1.04 million.

Mulone said the report shows there are 306,000 Vietnam veterans in Illinois; 268,000 Korean conflict veterans; 813,000 World War II veterans; 74,000 World War I veterans, and 168,000 veterans with service between the Korean conflict and Vietnam.

Illinois also has the sole surviving veteran of the Indian Wars. He is Fredrak Fraske, who this year celebrated his 100th birthday and received a special message from President Nixon.

The veteran population of the United States has climbed to 28,804,000.

Assembly To Undergo Drastic Change

by JEFF SHELER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — If elections bring new blood into government office, the Illinois General Assembly is in for a massive transfusion this November.

Up for grabs will be at least 57 seats vacated this year by an unusually large number of retirements, incumbents seeking other offices, some primary election upsets and deaths.

Add to that the possibility of a few incumbents being toppled in November upsets and the turnover rate nears 25 per cent — critically high in a year when partisan competition for control of the legislature is virtually up in the air.

Further complicating the battle for control of the legislature is an unpredictable coattail effect that most observers say will result if President Nixon wins in Illinois and Democrat Daniel Walker defeats Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

Yet leaders of both houses speak optimistically about the election. House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, predicts Republicans will retain control of the House despite the pre-election loss of 26 GOP incumbents. House Democrats lost only 10 incumbents.

"DOWNSTATE HAS always been pretty solidly Republican," Blair said. "and I expect it will remain that way. And in the Chicago suburbs, where many of our vacancies have occurred, I expect we will elect two Republicans in every district."

Senate President pro tempore Cecil Partee, D-Chicago, whose party won control of the state Senate last session only on Democratic Lt. Gov. Paul Simon's tie-breaking vote, said he is "not worried" about keeping the upper hand.

"It is pure speculation at this point," Partee said. "But I'm not worried about the election. Concerned? Yes. Worried? No."

What worries legislative leaders more these days is why almost a third of the Senate and almost a fifth of the House membership chose not to run for reelection this year.

While some of that group chose instead to seek higher office and a few lost their base of support as a result of a reapportionment, a total of 31 law-makers indicated they've had enough and want to return to private life.

A BREAKDOWN OF vacancies in each house shows the Senate with 12 Republicans and six Democrats retiring, one Democrat seeking state office, one Democrat defeated in the primary and one Democrat deceased.

In the House, 9 Republicans and 4 Democrats retired, 12 Republicans and 4 Democrats are seeking other offices, 4 Republicans and 4 Democrats are seeking other offices, 4 Republicans were defeated in the primary and 1 Republican and 2 Democrats died.

"Under the new constitution, the General Assembly is to be in continual session," said state Rep. George M. Burditt, R-La Grange, who will retire in January after four terms. "I simply can't afford that amount of time away from my law practice."

Most of the retirees agreed with Burditt — that with annual sessions the job of a legislator is becoming a full-time occupation. And for $17,500 a year, few of them are willing to withstand the rigors.

"Now it would be impossible for me to be a good attorney at home and a good legislator in Springfield," said Sen. John G. Gilbert, R-Carbondale, who is retiring after six terms.

"And it's a shame it can no longer be that way," Gilbert said. "I think we need a citizens' legislature — people with a business at home who can give the government the insights of a farmer or lawyer or merchant."

OTHER RETIRING lawmakers complained of too-long work days, too much legislation and too little efficiency — all resulting, they say, from the switch from biennial to annual sessions.

Both Blair and Partee said the workload could be cut if the legislature adopts a plan to limit sessions in even numbered years to budgetary matters.

"But I've never agreed with the concept that a citizens' legislature is inherently better than a professional legislature," Blair said. "The issues are becoming too complex and sophisticated and it takes a member's full attention to do a conscientious job."

Partee echoed the sentiment. "It is a matter of priorities. My law practice has suffered, but I've determined for myself what's more important."

A Black Mayor In South

Editor's Note: Charles Evers now is in the final year of his four-year term as the first black mayor of a biracial town in Mississippi.

by PHILIP D. HEARN

FAYETTE, Miss. (UPI) — In a shady spot near the old courthouse two elderly black men sat chatting about changes in Fayette and about their mayor.

Nearby, a statue of a Confederate soldier jutted into the sky. There was little activity. Only the sounds of traffic along Main Street, a highway knifing through town, could be heard.

"It's a new world today in just about every way a human could mention," 75-year-old Barry Monroe said, recalling his past years as a farm worker in the area.

"There was a time when colored folks couldn't sit around on the streets like we're doing here today. They'd put you in jail."

"Yea, they'd have you out working in some cotton field 20 years ago," added 58-year-old J. C. Anderson, who has lived on a small farm near Fayette all his life.

Both men agreed that one of the most significant changes in recent years had been the election of Fayette Mayor Charles Evers — the first and only black mayor of a biracial town in this Deep South state.

"I think he's made a good mayor," Anderson said. "There have been a lot of improvements. There seems to be more work. Lots of people have jobs now that didn't have them before."

JUST HOW GOOD a mayor the veteran civil rights leader has been since defeating a veteran white incumbent for the post in 1969 depends partly on who is doing the talking. One fact is clear: There have been no major racial incidents during Evers' three years in office.

But even Evers admits he has critics within the black community as well as the white community.

"I do run the town," he continued. "That's why the people elect a mayor. There are still blacks who believe that no black is supposed to be mayor. They have been brainwashed and taught inferiority."

Evers returned to his native Mississippi from Chicago after the slaying of his brother, Medgar, in 1963 and soon established himself as a civil rights leader with a national as well as state reputation. He assumed the field secretaryship of the NAACP in Mississippi, a post which had been held by his brother, and later became the first member of his race to become a member of the Democratic National Committee.

He also made an unsuccessful bid to become Mississippi's first black governer in 1971.

EVERS SAID there was no massive exodus of whites from Fayette when he took office. He says the population of 2,000 has remained about 70 per cent black and 30 per cent white. Some white leaders say, however, that blacks now have a numerical advantage of 4 or 5 to 1.

Through the Medgar Evers Fund, Evers said, a $680,000 community health program has been established, a $38,000 mobile medical unit purchased, school equipment and books secured, a 250-acre industrial park developed, a child day care center established, law enforcement activities upgraded and plans launched for construction of a $400,000 multi-purpose center to house a number of public service and recreational programs.

Evers also takes credit for the development of a modern vocational - technical facility where he said 50 to 100 boys per cycle earn $40 a week while learning a trade. A white critic maintains the facility was in operation "long before Evers took office" as a branch of Copiah-Lincoln Junior College.

The mayor is especially proud of his police force — which he expanded from two to six officers — and he maintains Fayette has the "lowest crime rate in the nation.

"There's no police harassment but if you break the law, you pay no matter who you are," said Evers, who also happens to serve as town judge. "I'd fine my own mother if she came in here and broke the law."

He said he once fined one of the town's aldermen $160 for public drunkenness.

THE TOWN'S FIVE aldermen — all of whom won election along with Evers — are black as are all the members of the police force. But Evers takes pride in the fact that half on his 10-member city hall staff is white.

There are critics who take sharp issue with the rosy picture painted by Evers. One consistent critic of the mayor has been Mrs. Marie Farr Walker, outspoken white editor of the weekly Fayette Chronicle. She maintains whites are just "biding time" while Evers is in office.

"I think he generally has failed as a mayor," Mrs. Walker said. "All the things he blamed white people for not doing in the past, he hasn't done either. He hasn't been in town nine-tenths of the time — or in the state for that matter. I think that's been harmful to the town."

Evers, who said he definitely would seek reelection next year, predicted he would have black as well as white opponents for the job. Mrs. Walker said she believes Evers has alienated enough blacks to cost him a second term.

If Evers has made enemies in the black community, however, he also apparently has made some friends in the white community.

The white owner of a small family business which has operated on Main Street for 40 years said Evers apparently was striving to maintain an atmosphere in which the heavily outnumbered white citizens would feel they were still a part of the community.

"He's been fair," the store owner said. "There's not as much friction now between the races as there was five years ago. If there is friction, it's mostly between the Negroes. Business is good. He's made a good mayor."

IRS Watching For Illegal Rent Hikes

Internal Revenue Service investigators in northern Illinois are participating in a national rent watch to protect recipients of increased Social Security payments from having their rents illegally raised.

"This month, 28 million Social Security recipients received a 20 per cent increase in their payments," Roger C. Beck, IRS district Director for northern Illinois, said. "We are urging landlords not to raise rents unless they are certain such increases are legal.

"In many cases, landlords have already raised rents this year and must wait until 12 months have elapsed since that increase before raising rents again," Beck said.

Landlords must not raise rents beyond a maximum 2.5 per cent a year increase plus prorated passthroughs of increased taxes, municipal fees and services, and capital improvements. Tenants should also receive a detailed 30-day notice.

THE COST OF Living Council has given the IRS new administrative sanction powers to protect tenants from illegal rent increases. Now the IRS can order landlords violating regulations to restore overpayments to tenants, roll back rents to legal limits and impose penalties of double the overcharged rent.

The Revenue Service will refer to the Justice Department for prosecution cases of flagrant and willful violation of rent rules, the district director said.

He urged tenants to report rent increases which they consider illegal. The IRS gives priority handling to rent complaints from Social Security recipients.

"To insure their complaints receive handling priority, citizens should identify themselves as Social Security recipients when they contact us, especially by telephone or letter," he said.

All residential rental units under controls are covered by rent watch. This generally includes all units owned by landlords with an interest in more than four units. Excluded are landlords with less than four units and housing controlled by the federal, state and local governments.

IRS offices have copies of Form S-38, which shows the detailed information landlords must supply in notifying tenants of proposed increases.

"USE OF THE form, however, does not mean the IRS has approved a rent increase. If the landlord does not give the tenant proper notice, any increase, even one justifiable under the rules, is illegal," the district director added.

Landlords who evict or harass tenants in retaliation for protesting allegedly illegal rent increases to the IRS violate rent regulations and face possible criminal or civil penalties.

"Tenants who are harassed or receive eviction notices after complaining about a rent increase should contact their IRS office, continue to pay rent and keep records of payments thought to be excessive," he said.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I donate blood to a blood bank once or twice a year. Do they check for syphilis? Should I be secure in not having a disease since I give blood? I recently broke up with a man I expected to marry as I am quite sure he's been cheating on me. I'm not promiscuous. I do get a physical about every six months. Would my doctor know through lab tests and pelvic exams that I am in good health. I'm in my 40s and am ashamed to say that I know so little about this subject. I do read about it and it scares me although I haven't any physical evidence to warrant my worries.

Dear Reader — Yes, the blood bank tests all blood it collects for syphilis. In the first few weeks of infection the tests can be negative and sometimes in individuals who have had it for several years, the tests can be negative. But with regular examinations such as you described it is most unlikely that you would have a negative test and still have syphilis.

Although a blood test is now being developed for gonorrhea, at present it is not available and the test has to be made from a culture obtained during the pelvic examination. Without the culture test the pelvic examination might be negative and the woman still could have gonorrhea.

About 80 per cent of the women who have gonorrhea have no symptoms, which is one reason that the disease has gotten out of hand and exists in epidemic proportions in this country. A new office culture test method is available now which should make it easy for practicing doctors to determine if a woman has gonorrhea or not, even if she has no symptoms and there's no good evidence of it on the physical examination. If you're worried about it, why don't you ask your doctor to test you for it.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Is there anything that can be done to remove a keloid scar. Recently I had some moles removed from my face and back and now they have healed into a keloid scar. My doctor says they are hereditary. They just look terrible.

Dear Reader — A keloid scar is an overgrowth of the scar tissue even to the point of forming masses or tumors. They more often occur before age 35 and particularly in individuals with dark skin.

If they are cut away, there is a great chance that they will just come back again, unless they are done in later years and then, with increased age, they are less likely to recur.

For this reason, most doctors who remove keloid scars like to use X-ray or other treatment over the fresh operation area, and for sometime thereafter to try to prevent a recurrence of the keloids. X-ray therapy is not very beneficial in treating an old keloid and usually must be used with new surgery.

Canine Psychologist May Help

Is Your Dog Becoming A Neurotic?

DALLAS (UPI) — Dog psychologist W. B. Mason says his patients, just like people, are becoming increasingly neurotic.

"Your pet industry is one of the fastest growing industries there is, and there are more pets all the time," Mason said. "of course with this, with the confinement they have in apartments and things like this, dogs do have more problems.

"And people understand them less, as far as where the problems arise from."

Mason said each breed has its own characteristics, something he has learned through more than 20 years working with dogs.

"Take your Shepherds, for instance," he said. "They are bred to work, and they usually do work for you. And this is one of the main problems that we have.

"THEY'RE BRED TO work sheep, cattle or something like this, and people get them. It's such a gradual thing that they end up working the people, and they become a nuisance.

"Your terriers, they're little he-men and they're wound tight. They're spunky little buggers and sometimes people get a puppy because it's cute and lovable, and it grows up to be a little hell on wheels and they don't know how to cope with this."

Sometimes people who come to him with a problem dog fail to tell Mason everything about the dog's home situation that could be helpful in treatment, he said, adding:

"They don't always give you the complete picture, and many times they don't know the complete picture.

"Their own experience with dogs, or other animals, is not such that they are able to really give you a good definition of what the problem is. Yet they know and realize when they have a prlblem, and of course this is what I specialize in — problems.

"And I do work with the problem with the dog, and understand it through the dog, and then I help the people to understand how they can change their patterns, their habits and their timing, to rectify this, so they can get enjoyment from the dog instead of letting the dog be a nuisance to them."

HE SAID THE most rewarding part of his job is helping people enjoy a dog.

"I worked with a Terrier-type dog that was very typical of what we were talking about. It was hyper-active and uncontrollable when anyone came to the house to the point of being aggressive. And after we worked with the dog and showed the people how to handle the dog, some people think we've changed dogs on them. There's such a drastic difference in just a couple of weeks.

"These things are rewarding, when a person is really able to enjoy a dog that has become a nuisance."

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

There was a certain eastern expert who was famous or maybe infamous for practicing one little bit of gamesmanship. This gamesmanship worked pretty well against strangers but it put him at the mercy of people who knew about his little bit of minor skulduggery.

In today's hand we find him sitting West in a rubber bridge game. The bidding in the box represents the actual calls at the table but it does not show that West thought for a long while before passing after his partner's three-spade call.

A stranger might have felt that West was considering a four-spade bid but North knew all about West's little peccadillo.

He knew that West had no intention of going to four spades, then or later, and West's long thought was just a smoke screen designed to let his partner buy the hand at three.

Without this knowledge, North would surely have let East play three spades. He didn't have much of a raise for hearts and in addition he had not defense against four spades, but he knew West like a book.

East would have made exactly three spades. The play at four hearts started with East winning the spade lead. Three rounds of clubs came next. South ruffed; drew trumps; and went into diamonds but he had no problem there. South knew West also and knew that West could not hold the diamond queen plus the other cards he had shown up with.

A Force Named Williebrown

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — The fervor of Willie Lewis Brown Jr. is overpowering.

Sure, you remember Willie Brown. The Democrat convention. The dispute over the seating of the California delegation. Wille Brown, wringing his hands passionately, almost shricking, beseeching, "Give me back my delegation!"

And getting it when the McGovern forces, which he represented, won their battle.

You'll be hearing lots more of Williebrown (he says it like it's one word) now and in the future.

Williebrown is an impudent lawyer in a hot-so-nice part of town, on Octavia Street, where rubble — broken glass, beer cans squashed, chipped concrete — spills over the curb. He is also an assemblyman in the California state legislature, representing the 18th district, which includes the posh Pacific Heights district of San Francisco.

Williebrown is, foremost, a politician.

"I'm interested obviously," he says, "in maybe being the speaker of the California legislature one day soon."

THAT'S FOR openers.

"Secondly," he continues, "I'm obviously interested in being the mayor of San Francisco. The mayor's race comes up in 1975, and there are many people who have said that Williebrown is the next natural mayor of San Francisco. And Williebrown on occasion has voiced the same opinion."

He talks like that in a very detached third-person sort of way, and I suppose the psychiatrists can read som grandeur implications into it.

"And finally," with a pause for effect, "I'd like to be a United States senator."

Williebrown is 38 years old. He is slight and slim and wiry and kinetic. He is also black.

A black, any black, will tell you that there is never a day when he is allowed to forget the fact of his blackness. Is it this way with Williebrown?

"Of course. And there never will be. Frankly, I'm glad that I have something unique other politicians of the same stature and ability can't offer. I have as much name recognition in San Francisco as Joe Alioto (his honor, the mayor), and probably more than any other officeholder in this city, not only because of all the things I do, but becuase of the uniqueness of a black man doing it."

And yet there is the transcendent feeling that in the pecking order of a man's self-evaluation, Williebrown would tell you that he's a politican first and a black man second. Otherwise, how would it be in the cards for a city with a black population of 13 per cent to even contemplate having a black mayor?

"WELL," HE answers, "Williebrown has transcended the ethnic kind of politics in terms of ethnic attractiveness. My political conduct and ability has indicated something far beyond being simply a black representative. In my own district, which is 17 per cent black, San Francisco has accepted me in toto. It's a unique city able to accept that kind of leadership. This is an island of sanity when it comes to politics, separate and distinct from the rest of the world."

Yet the biggest stimulant to the political career of Williebrown was that moment in Miami in August when the Democratic convention, and national television, focused on him.

Four years earlier, as he remembers it, he led the fight to kick Georgia's Lester Maddox out of the convention but Julian Bond got most of the press. Then a year and a half ago, when George McGovern was making a San Francisco speech in a church, Williebrown introduced him.

"After he finished," remembered McGovern, "I was embarrassed to speak." So the South Dakota senator picked Williebrown to be his anchorman in the convention debate on the seating of the California delegation.

"I WAS A little nervous, frankly," recalls Brown, "that I was given the role. I knew I had four minutes at most to convey to that convention the deep-seated anger of the California people if phony politics was used to stop them from their legitimate place on the floor. I had to psyche myself up."

And so came forth his impassioned plea which won the convention's vote. Now Willie walks down the street and two out of five people — his estimate — recognize him. A lady from Birmingham, Ala., sees him in a San Francisco hotel lobby and says, "The only thing I liked about the Democrats was Williw Brown, and you're Willie Brown, aren't you?"

Once you've seen him, Williebrown is easily distinguished. He has a personal flamboyance overtly visible in his pastel-shaded, zootily tailored clothes.

"I spend as much time shopping for clothes," he confesses, "as I do practicing law. But don't tell my partners that." He spends maybe 20 hours a year in regular legal work. The other 99 per cent of the time he's a politician.

"Many people construe the word 'politican' as something sinister," he says, "where there are unqualified or dishonest persons holding the position. I don't happen to believe that."

AS THE chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, he holds one of the most responsible jobs in the state. "Eight billion dollars is the budget of California," he explains, "and I'm the chief manager and author of that budget. I don't know any other man who takes care of $8 billion and gets paid only $19,200 a year for it." The latter figure is his salary as an assemblyman.

"Politics," he adds, "can never be practiced by very poor people."

Williebrown came from poor people. He's from the little town of Mineola in rural east Texas. His mother was a domestic. She still is. His father is a retired Pullman porter now living in Los Angeles. Wille came west to San Francisco State after high school because he wanted a better education. He went on for his law degree at the University of California.

In May 1960 he tried to purchase a home in an exclusive hilly area of San Francisco and was rejected because he was black.

"There were five days of demonstrations," he recalls, "and I made every newspaper in the country. Everybody began to recognize Williebrown as somewhat of a force."

Television More Than News, Entertainment

by RICK DuBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Television used to be just a set in your home bringing you news and entertainment. Now it is many more things.

Some hotels and motels are starting to offer closed circuit films and other programming to rooms. And the cassette business is beginning to test its potential.

And long-play home television disk systems are being talked about more and more. And so are the possibilities for pay-TV in homes.

An Anaheim, Calif., a company called Travelers Television has linked a number of hotels and motels near Disneyland into a closed circuit network.

The specialty of this network is promotional shows letting tourists know there are also many other things to see in Southern California.

"Our position," says the president of Travelers Television, Thor Holmes, "is that a tourist wants to sample everything his new surroundings offer.

"He doesn't want to stay cooped up in a hotel room watching television. We actually show him how to get away from our screen — so that he and his family can get more out of their visit."

And then there are the glamor companies that are also interested in the closed-circuit hotel room video market. For instance: Columbua Pictures Industries, 20th Century-Fox and MGM.

As an example, Columbia, having already taken the plunge in the United States, now has a venture in partnership with two British firms for some London hotel rooms to get movies and tourist data.

20th Century-Fox is reported one of three companies that have formed a firm to supply features to hotels, nursing homes and hospitals.

MGM is testing the hotel room closed-circuit market in Canada.

IN ANOTHER AREA, there is the development of a television cassette programming service by Time-Life Inc. for homes, schools and business.

And the Philips Company and MCA are among the firms involved in working up long-play home-TV disk systems. Both the Philips and MCA systems apparently would offer up to two uninterrupted hours of disk play.

As for home pay-TV, the big breakthrough is still awaited. And show business people talk of a big bonanza. They talk a lot about it.

At any rate, all these developments are being watched closely by the creators of the entertainment and informational material, who, of course, want a nice piece of action.

Guild writers, for instance, want a percentage of the gross on movies and television films seen via pay-TV, cassette or cable outlets, as well as those licensed for viewing in a home by such methods as rentals.

The Hollywood Scene

by Vernon Scott

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Now comes a television hero who makes pikers of all cops, private eyes, investigators and crime fighters.

He gets a cool million for every case he solves. "Cool Million," in fact, is the title of the new 90-minute series of five shows starring James Farentino as a smooth operator who doesn't always get his man, or the million.

But how many cases does he have to crack at those fees?

Not even television's doctors grab off that kind of money.

"It's not so far fetched," said Farentino. "He only works for very rich individuals or big corporations who can afford a million dollars. They hire the character I play — Jeff Keyes — to save themselves many millions of dollars.

"HE'S THE LAST resort when all other channels of investigation have failed. Jeff is no charmer or James Bond. If he doesn't get the job done he loses the million bucks."

"Cool Million" is one of a trio of shows under the umbrella title of "NBC Wednesday Mystery Movie." The remaining two shows are "Banacek" starring George Peppard and "Madigan" with Richard Widmark.

They, too, are on the side of the law, but not a million bank notes worth. Widmark is a cop who works for peanuts. Peppard plays a rich man whose hobby is besting bad guys.

Unlike many an action-adventure show, "Cool Million" isn't all violence. Farentino doesn't even carry a gun.

"My character owns his own jet plane," the actor said, "which helps explain why his fees are so high. His overhead is something else — he pays all his own expenses.

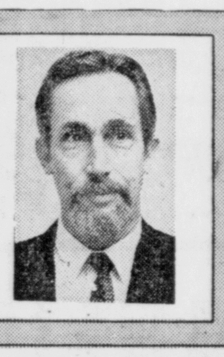

"I THINK THE series will give entertainment value to viewers who really crave something feasible. This isn't like 'Mission: Impossible' which is a fairy tale."

Farentino is a darkly handsome man of rugged build and a straight-on attitude.

"We won't shoot a single scene here in the studio," Jim said, gesturing around the Universal lot.

"We'll take our cameras wherever the script sends us in the United States and abroad. Even the interior scenes will be shot on locations. It gives the show a feeling of reality."

Farentino doesn't begin to earn as much for each caper as does the man he portrays, but then he doesn't own his own jet plane either.

The Lighter Side

by Dick West

WASHINGTON (upi) — When Ralph Nader issued his report last week on "Who Runs Congress?" many of us laymen were comforted and reassured by his findings.

Especially cheering was Nader's conclusion that Congress was being run by big business, superpowered committee chairmen and the White House.

This was good news indeed and served to restore my faith in the legislative branch.

For I had been under the impression that nobody was running Congress.

Had I been asked for an opinion I would have said that Congress was meandering. It's nice to know that somebody's in charge.

Needless to say, Nader's report on his 18-month investigation of Congress also was applauded by the lawgivers themselves.

"Thanks, Ralph," they cried. "We needed that."

IT WAS THE WARMEST reception the beloved critic had received since the auto industry clasped him in fond embrace for having pointed out its shortcomings. And, like the automakers, Congress immediately took steps to bring about the reforms he recommended.

The Senate, for example, recalled 142 pieces of antitrust legislation for correction of defects created by a faulty lobbyist.

A spokesman said the legislation tended to develop ambiguities, causing the government's antitrust machinery to equivocate under pressure.

In consequence, he said, 47 antitrust cases collapsed en route to the courtroom last year and 27 others fell apart in grand juries.

HE SAID THE trouble had been traced to a flaw in the enforcement section of the legislation, which resulted in an expansion of loopholes.

The loopholes, he added, were punched in the measure by overstressed lobbying as the legislation was being assembled.

Asked if the legislative assembly process should be revised to bypass the lobby, where most weaknesses in antitrust measures develop, the spokesman said that would not be necessary.

He insisted that the lobbying system was structurally sound despite occasional leakage of memos.

At the same time, the spokesman denied that recent legislative output included an abnormally high percentage of "lemons."

Although production has been stepped up to meet public demands for new and different types of legislation, there has been no relaxation of standards, he said.

"Our measures are designed to withstand both court tests and presidential vetoes," he boasted.

Hitchhiking: A Bad Trip

There was once a myth in America that a ready thumb was all you'd need to travel across America. Stand by the road, and before your shoes got dusty, a friendly motorist would be taking you in the general direction of where you wanted to go.

Today, however, that myth is dead — at least in the Chicago area — along with the victims of apparent hitchhike murders.

Several weeks go, police found the body of 15-year-old Amy Alden of Evanston near a road in Skokie. Persons who last saw the girl alive said she had been hitchhiking after a late evening party.

Amy's not the only one who's fallen victim to the misguided and vicious individuals who prey off the current popularity of hitchhiking in the suburbs.

Unfortunately, however, it takes a bloody incident such as the Amy Alden killing to publicize the danger of hitchhiking. Predictably, after the furor about her death dies down, there will be less public concern expressed about the issue.

Indeed, hitchhiking does have its vocal defenders, as many persons have found it is a quick and convenient method to get cheaply where they're going. It also allows you to meet people, the proponents argue.

It also exposes you, especially if you are a young woman, to the threat of physical attack. As a hitchhiker, you're at the mercy of your driver, who may be a normal, decent citizen or someone deranged and capable of violence.

Secondarily, hitchhikers provide traffic problem, as many seem to lack the sense to hitch away from the flow of traffic. Too often a sudden stop by a motorist results in a fender-bending stop by the motorist driving behind the first motorist. For everyone involved, suburban hitchhiking involves a high degree of risk.

Illinois law, curiously, does not ban hitchhiking. It is not allowed on expressways, but it is permitted locally, so long as you stand off the road. Unless your community has an ordinance banning it, it's legal.

Whatever the law, it's a dangerous practice — and police and parents have an obligation to do everything they can to prevent it.

If police can't arrest hitchhikers, perhaps they can do more to discourage them by aggressive public information programs and by rigid enforcement of existing anti-hitchhiking laws.

Parents can discourage it, too. Just reading newspaper stories about murders should chill the average parent, enough to encourage him or her to talk to their children about it.

Suburban hitchhiking will only end, however, when motorists refuse to condone it. And the average, sensible motorist is aware, too, that however innocent the child he picks up appears to be, there's always an element of risk involved.

If drivers would stop picking up hitchhikers, and if children would be encouraged by authorities not to hitchhike, we'd begin to solve the problem — a problem which is going to continue to injure and kill before it is solved.

Nixon's Priorities

The world, apparently, is in better shape than we had dared to hope.

Surely few men are in better position to assess the state of this troubled planet than the President of the United States.

When we have allowed ourselves to think about the awesome problems of his every working day, we have conceived of the President sitting down each morning to a list of "Things To Do Today" which probably looked something like this:

—See about ending that damned war.

—(With above) Get prisoners home.

—Check on Mideast situation.

—Remind Agnew not to drop any bombshells without clearing with Ziegler.

—Remind Pentagon not to drop any bombs without clearing with me.

—Check want ads for 6 million jobs.

—Check phones for wiretaps (ours, NOT THEIRS!)

. . The list, as we imagine it, probably goes on for pages.

It is reassuring to see that at least on one day, the problem which found itself to the top of the list was something like:

—Football on TV.

If the President of the U.S. could devote more of his time to attacking such questions as whether or not you can watch the Chicago Bears on Sunday afternoon, surely all those other problems would fall into place.

'Baby Boom Isn't Quite Dead Yet'

I was happy to read your Sept. 25 headline, 'Baby Boom is Over,' but there is an awful big "however" involved before we start rejoicing prematurely. The U.S. is a far way from stabilizing its population. I would like to believe your headline, but the facts will not allow me to do so. The facts are these:

During 1971 there were 3,559,000 births in the nation. That figure compares to an average for the five previous years of 3,584,000. A decline of 25,000 is not worth noting in a setting of three and a half million.

Birth rates did decline, to be sure. But the number of women ages 15-44 in the U.S. increased and will continue to increase drastically until the year 2000, because of the baby boom of the "50s and 60s." The Census Bureau reports about 44 million of childbearing age now and projects at its lowest rate, some 60 million by the year 2000. So the birth rate must decline by a third or more to come out even. Such a decline is not predictable now.

In fact, the Census Bureau projects more than 4 million births each year after 1974 until 1989. That is the number of births during the Baby Boom a generation ago. It appears we have another baby boom on the way.

It is for this reason that the Zero Population Growth Organization urges all Americans to give serious consideration to life-styles without children, with one child or with two children. ZPG hopes that the nation will reach a balance between births and deaths by 1990.

ZPG believes that achievement of this goal will mean a possible continuation and even improvement of the life quality for all Americans and a beacon of hope to a world which will have 7.4 billion people by the year 2000.

'A Humane Man'

I would like to express by heartfelt thanks to the wonderful couple who were kind enough to stop and help our dog who had been hit by a truck on Tuesday, October 3, around 3 p.m. She was hit on Dundee Road near where they are constructing the new Buffalo Grove High School. Several of those big, tough construction men saw what happened, and not one of them went t the dog's aid. Our dog is a beautiful Irish Setter, so she didn't look like any old stray. I must say, those men were certainly heartless. Didn't any of them stop to think that the dog might be some child's cherished pet? Well, she is. I have two little boys, ages 3 and 5, and they were heartbroken to learn that their dog had to stay in the hospital, and was hurt.

Thank God that there are still a few humane people left in this crazy world who would take the time to stop and help an injured animal. This man and his wife saw our dog stagger across the field by the school, and they pulled off the road to see what had happened. They're the ones who took the dog to the animal hospital. Whoever you wonderful people are, thank you, thank you. You left the hospital before I could even find out your names. I hope that you read this, and know how much my family and I appreciate what you did for our dog, Shannon.

Mrs. Peggie Lester
Buffalo Grove

Thank You

On the night of Sept. 28, I was involved in an accident on Higgins Road, one-half mile west of Arlington Heights Road. This two-lane road, under construction, is hazardous in normal conditions, but this Thursday night it was storming with driving rains.

I want to thank the two gentlemen whose names I did not get who stood out in that electrical storm and directed traffic until help came from the police.

How wonderful to know there are such kind and considerate people about. God bless you.

Public's Issue SPECIAL

Pucinski: 'I'll Protect Workers'

Our "Public's Issue" columnist this week is not a suburbanite, but he hopes to represent the suburbs and the rest of Illinois in the U.S. Senate.

Democrat Roman Pucinski — next week it'll be incumbent Charles Percy — agreed several weeks ago to participate in a unique "Public's Issue" debate.

Both candidates agreed to submit to us a 1,000-word answer to the following question: "What are the issues in the 1972 general election — especially in terms of the suburbs." Their contributions are part of our continuing Campaign '72 coverage.

Pucinski, who is 53, has represented the Northwest Side of Chicago in seven terms in the U. S. House of Representatives. He was a decorated captain in the U. S. Air Force during World War II and worked as a reporter for the Chicago Sun-Times for 20 years.

His column has been edited somewhat to bring it close to the 1000-word limit.

by ROMAN PUCINSKI

All my political life my policy in public affairs has been to do what I honestly believe is right, and leave the consequences to Providence. I have adhered to that policy during my 14 years in the House of Representatives and I shall continue to do so in the Seante.

In the current campaign for U. S. Senaor I am fighting to unseat an opponent who is the chief spokesman in the Senate for the international conglomerates. These multinational companies have had a devastating impact on our balance of trade and are responsible for the exporting of hundreds of thousands of American jobs to foreign markets.

I have sponsored the Foreign Trade and Investment Act — the Burke-Hartke Act — which provides for job security for American workers. My opponent has attacked it and announced his total opposition.

I want to protect the jobs of American workers.

In his six years in the Senate my opponent, Charles Percy, has accomplished little for the people of Illinois. He has failed to bring a single major development to the state.

Rep. Roman Pucinski

As a Congressman, I have sponsored or supported many bills designed to help the working people. A few examples:

The Burke-Hartke bill to save American jobs, the Tax Reform Act of 1969, tax credit for college help for your children, an increase in tax deduction for dependents from $600 to $750, additional benefits for the aged, revenue sharing, and day care centers for working mothers.

I voted against bills limiting tax deductions to only two dependents per family, gun restrictions, and tax breaks for international conglomerates.

My opponent took opposite positions on every one of these measures.

The issues in this campaign are many. To mention a few:

TAXES: I have consistently advocated measures which would ease the income tax burden of the middle-class citizen. I have tried to be innovative in my approach to the local property tax and I have suggested a number of ways of alleviating the economic hardship it imposes on middle-class Americans.

Statistics show that real estate taxes in the United States yield $40 billion annually. I believe local taxpayers are carrying a disproportionate burden in providing fire, police, health, education and sanitation to local communities.

PUBLIC WELFARE: A few years ago, I made a study of the public welfare program and found that 49 per cent of public aid recipients in Illinois were from Mississippi. We know these people need help, but I do not believe the host state should be forced to carry the full cost of social problems created by citizens who exercise their right of free movement from one state to another.

I believe the federal government should absorb the entire cost of all public aid programs, thereby saving Illinois alone $1.4 billion annually. Such a move would make it possible for the state to absorb a higher percentage of the cost of public education and hopefully help reduce local real estate taxes.

EDUCATION: The federal government collects 64 cents of every dollar in taxes in the United States, but pays only 6 per cent of the cost of education, with local and state agencies paying the rest. Early this year, I introduced in the House a National Partnership in Education bill which would transfer the cost of expensive local programs in part to the federal government.

This bill would put the federal share of spending on elementary and secondary education at one-third of total spending, and would set the minimum expenditure per student at $1,200 annually. Under my proposal, Illinois would receive more than $600 million in additional federal aid by 1975.

BUSING: I am opposed to massive busing to achieve integration. The House recently approved legislation limiting busing of school children and I believe the Senate will also approve the measure.

A study by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare shows that 95 per cent of the nation's schools could be integrated within the neighborhood school concept and without massive busing if racially-gerrymandered school boundaries are abandoned.

SENIOR CITIZENS: I support the establishment of an annual income floor for retired persons. This floor should be set above the present — an unrealistic — Federal 'poverty level' of $3,600. People do have a right to expect that if they and contribute to this country all their lives that they won't be shut out of its blessings at age 65.

CRIME: In May, this year I introduced legislation which would make the use of a gun in the commission of a crime a federal offense and would prohibit reducing charges against those who commit such crimes.

This bill is designed to stop the practice of "plea bargaining" which too often permits criminals to seek a lesser charge if they agree to plead guilty. I want to make the use of a gun in the commission of a crime a federal offense because then we would have uniform standards for prosecuting criminals.

During the six years Percy has been in the Senate, Illinois has failed to receive in fair share of federal dollars that are being spent on domestic programs.

This is borne out by a U. S. Treasury report on Federal Aid to States for fiscal 1971. The study shows that of all federal spending in Illinois in 1971, the state ranked so consistently low in almost every area of federal activity that Illinois placed 48th among the 50 states and the District of Columbia in its per capata share of all federal expenditures.

If Percy had been truly concerned about the interests of the people of Illinois, I am certain that this state could have received a return from the Federal Government more in line with the amount of taxes it takes from Illinois taxpayers.

Word A Day

Business Today

by LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) —In 1941, Patty Berg got a $100 savings bond for winning the American Women's open golf tournament.

Seven years later, the late Babe Didrickson Zaharias, the leading money maker on the feminine golf circuit, earned $3,400 for the year while her male counterparts got rich.

But today women's golf is big business, thanks largely to such commercial sponsors as Colgate-Palmolive Co., Sears, Roebuck & Co., Pepsico and the Sealy Mattress group. More than $1 million a year is available as prize money for the lady pros.

The sale of feminine apparel, clubs and other equipment especially designed for women has become almost as important to golf pro shops and leading department stores as clothing and clubs for men. At golf clubs alone, sales of feminine golfing togs run better than $25 million a year.

ALTHOUGH THE great American game in the 1920s, women's golf languished as a poor relation until the 1960s, according to the National Golf Foundation.

There were only half a million lady golfers in 1947 and the number grew only to 875,000 by 1960. In the next five years, the ladies took to the links with a vengeance — 1.685 million of them.

Last year it jumped to 2.143 million. That's a 400 per cent increase since 1947. In the same year, the number of male golfers went up 110 per cent to 6.731 million.

President David Foster of Colgate-Palmolive, which put up the $110,000 purse for the Colgate Winner's Circle tournament this year at Palm Springs, Calif., (the purse will be $150,000 next year) said three factors in addition to the money put up by his firm and others have fueled the boom:

—Women have more free time and more money than men.

—Women are becoming more exercise and outdoors conscious than men.

—Television has glamorized golf to the home audience.

FOSTER SAID THE payoff to Colgate-Palmolive has been handsome. The company's products are bought mostly by women, so feminine golf tournaments are ideal for spotting its broadcast advertising. The printed publicity and public relations dividends also have been enormous.

Foster believes women's golf should have complete equality with the masculine game, financially speaking. That's still a big order. In spite of the boom, Kathy Whitworth, the dark haired Texas girl who was 1971's top money maker, pulled down only $45,000 last year compared with the $265,000 made by Jack Nicklaus.

Mortgage Loan Delinquency Remains Low

The second quarter of 1972 saw a continuation of the low trend in mortgage loan delinquency ratios at savings and loan associations, reports the United States Savings and Loan League.

The league, principal trade organization for the savings and loan business, pointed out that mortgage loan delinquencies continued at a rate of less than 1 per cent of all mortgages in savings and loan association portfolios.

By month, the second quarter delinquency ratios were: April—.77; May—.75; and June—.73. The average delinquency ratio for the period was .75, which exactly matched the second quarter of 1971.

The League bases its monthly report of mortgage loan delinquencies on a survey of more than 900 savings and loan associations. Loans considered delinquent for the survey purpose are those on which payments have not been made within 60 days of the date stipulated on the mortgage. It covers all types of loans — conventional, FHA and VA.

Personal Finance

On a recent morning the big Federal Building conference room was packed with witnesses, each waiting to tell a sad tale, or an angry one, of having been "taken" by the hustlers who sell lots — mostly sight unseen — in the more than 4,000 land developments now being promoted in the United States.

The story told by Mrs. Mildred P. was typical. At a "dinner party," she and her husband had made a down payment on a Florida lot, "near West Palm Beach." They could go look at it, they were told, and if they didn't like it, they'd get their money back.

They went, some weeks later, to look at the beautiful resort community they'd seen in the four-color ads.

The "model houses," Mrs. P. testified, were "flat pieces of wood propped up from behind. Our guided tour ended at a metal fence. Beyond it was nothing but swampland — no roads. They said we'd have to walk two and a half miles to get to our property."

UNDERSTANDABLY, they wanted their money back. The local manager asked them to sign a "voucher" for that purpose. Much later, after futile attempts to get action on the refund, they learned they'd signed a statement that they had inspected their property, and had 48 hours to request a refund — the 48 hours having long ago expired.

"They told us," said Mrs. P., "that we'd have to pay off the entire price of the property, and then we could sell it. We'd have to advertise in Florida, and sell it on our own."

And, as witness after witness testified, there's no resale market for such lots, being sold by the tens of thousands to guileless Americans.

The hearing was being conducted in New York by George K. Bernstein, administrator of the federal Office of Interstate Land Sales — which is doing its best (and, Bernstein admits, that's not very good) to police the widespread deception, misrepresentation and outright fraud.

"THE 'DEVELOPERS' put the emphasis on buying these lots as an investment," says Bernstein, "and investments they're not. There's absolutely no resale market for most of what's being sold. They tell you the value of your lot will double in a year. But why should someone buy your lot, at twice the price you paid, when the developers still have plenty of swampland to sell at their promoters' prices?"

The truth of it is that the buyer almost never has anything to sell, anyway. He's not buying the land, only entering into an installment contract. He gets no deed, and there's no mortgage, as in conventional land sales. There's only a contract, in which the developer promises to deliver title after payments have been completed — generally over a 10-year period.

"Meanwhile," says Bernstein, "you own nothing. You can't build on 'your property' — you don't even have the right to walk on it. Even if you prepay all the installments, the contract almost always provides for delivery of title after 10 years. The 'developer' doesn't want to — and won't — give you title earlier. In some cases, in fact — and it's perfectly legal — the promoter doesn't even own the land himself."

How do you protect yourself against being "taken" in this billion-dollar business? We'll pass on Bernstein's rules in our next column.

United Air Lines Takes On 'New Look'

by JAMES VESELY

Chicago's home town airline — or more properly, the airline which makes its home in the Northwest suburbs — is undergoing a face lift.

Giant United Air Lines, with its national headquarters in unincorporated Elk Grove Township, is undergoing a substantial change in the image it offers its passengers just as it has been undergoing an inner office corporate change for more than a year.

Most noticeable to the thousands of passengers who travel the domestic line will be the refurbished interiors of all of United's 315 standard size jets. Included in the program will be new interior colors, carpeting and enclosed luggage compartments above the seats.

The new luggage racks allow passengers to stow small suitcases overhead.

THE EFFECT OF the color schemes and storage compartments is to give the line's DC-8's and "stretch" '8s the appearance of wider bodied jets in what United has termed the "new look."

Although the "new look" is largely cosmetic, it is symptomatic of what industry observers are calling the new lean and aggressive attitude of the carrier.

According to United's own reports, the company's dominance of domestic air transport was beginning to lag. High company officials now say they intend to get back whatever business was lost and to recapture markets which traditionally have belonged to United.

For example, the world's most highly traveled air corridor — the Los Angeles-San Francisco air route — was dominated by United until 1962 when Pacific Southwest Airlines (PSA) began commuter flights and United's share of the market declined to 15 per cent by 1964. The company introduced the 727 short distance jet to the West Coast in 1965 and recaptured 38 per cent of the market, competing with PSA and Western Air Lines.

Near the end of last year, however, the company's share of the market had again dropped below 30 per cent.

NOW UNITED claims it has come back with a resurgence with new commuter fares, a new terminal in Los Angeles and two-class flights which accounts for a 28 per cent climb in revenue for the first seven months of operation.

Although the ticket price for first class one-way fare between the two cities is now $26 — about $10 more than coach — first class had drawn 57,622 passengers since Feb. 1.

Preceding the company's modernization of its standard-size aircraft under its "new look" program, was the realignment of corporate organization which came with a new president.

Edward Carlson, brought to the presidency of United from his previous post at Western International Hotels, the airline-owned hotel chain, created three divisions.

EACH DIVISION — East, Central and Western — is headed by a senior vice president and general manager who is responsible to day to day operations and his division's contributions to United's profits.

How autonomous each division is in relation to the managerial committees at corporate headquarters is still not entirely clear. One senior vice president, asked directly how autonomous his division really is, replied "we're testing the water," indicating much of the new structure may still be in the formative stage.

The division profit center concept holds that lines of communication will be shorter and responses to individual markets faster and more competitive.

Indeed, one high placed executive said the competition between divisions at United is as fierce as between competing airlines.

AND IF COMPETITION is their goal, the New York to California transcontinental market is the test.

The prestige New York to California run is the pride of the three certified carriers on the route — United, American and TWA. According to United, it is also the run with the largest potential for profit. United is currently third in that three-airline race.

Under terms of the federal capacity agreement, United's seat share cannot exceed 28 per cent; what the airline hopes to do is bring its share of the market up to its allotment.

The most recent analysis shows American at 40.2 per cent; TWA at 33.5 per cent and United at 27.4 per cent, up about two per cent for United since the previous market sounding.

United officers say they intend to become much more competitive in this market — and part of that goes back to the "new look" program initiated by the airline.

BUDGETED ADVERTISING cost for the New York-California route is $1.4 million for 1972. That amount is to be spent just for the New York-California traveler.

Since the three carriers on the route offer basically the same equipment and a federally regulated ticket price, the competition will focus on amenities and services to the passenger.

All three lines — United, American, TWA — offer either a 747 flight or a ride on one of the new tri-engine wide-bodied ets. United and American fly the DC-10, TWA flies the new Tristar-LC-1011, which is almost the same aircraft.

United is reconfiguring its DC-10s to show movies — which hasn't been done yet — and will offer exclusive showings of the NFL's Game of the Week in addition to other films.

THE "NEW LOOK" is not automatically evident on the long flights since it is the newer wide bodied jets in service there and the purpose of the renovation is to make the smaller, older DC-8s, super 8s and 727s take on a wider, lower look.

United is also continuing its policy of providing the new smokeless engine for its entire fleet by sometime in 1973.

In total, the "new look" at United is a major refurbishing job which will cost some $12 million and which has brightened the health of the firm's prime contractor for the project, Heath-Tecna of Seattle.

Completion date for the full United fleet is set for 1974, although there are no immediate plans for the refurbishment to reach the short-haul 737 airplane now in service.

IN ADDITION, all planes in the fleet are receiving a new exterior paint design — although nothing so dramatic as the one which turned Braniff's fleet into colored peacocks several years ago.

The new United design is "stars and bars," with a combination of the company's colors and four stars representing the four airline forerunners of United Air Lines.

REFURBISHING THE interior of a DC-8 takes place at the United Operations Base in San Francisco. Planes are brought in for a week-long remodeling process which rebuilds the interiors of the planes.

FLYING NEW colors and with revamped interiors for the standard jets, United is taking to the skies with a more aggressive attitude. The Northwest suburban based airline is attempting to bolster some of its sagging routes.

Starting at 10 A.M. on Wednesday, October 11, for 4 Days only, as per our custom at this time every year, we take our early fall and back-to-school merchandise and put most of it on sale. This way we make room for, believe it or not, our Holiday merchandise coming in already.

Des Plaines Ace Hardware Leads

Stjernberg Rolls 674 In Classic

by GENE KIRHAM

Des Plaines Ace Hardware now stands alone in first place in the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

Going into Barrington's Ten Pin Bowl, Morton Pontiac and Des Plaines were tied at 22 points each with Gaare Oil close with 20 points.

Des Plaines, with the aid of Barry Stjernberg's strong 674 series, was the only seven point winner at Ten Pin and moved into first place alone by a four point margin.

Barry Stjernberg's effort against Uncle Andy's Cow Palace came on games of 190, 226, and 258. His 674 series, which was high for the night, was unusual in that Ten Pin has been a tough house for him.

Every pin was needed as Uncle Andy's, led by George Schmidt's 623 series on games of 219, 214, and 190 stayed in every game to the tenth frame. Des Plaines won the first game 969 to 964, the second, 960 to 943 and went on to take the series point 2850 to 2779.

Gaare Oil was a five point winner over Morton Pontiac to move into second place in the standings. Gaare won the first and second games with 940 to 961 as Morton Pontiac fired 954 to win the third game. Gaare was the series winner 2779 to 2750. Al Haase led the Gaare team with a 584 series.

Bob Glaser of Morton Pontiac continued his string of 600's. After starting with 162 he fired games of 213 and 243 for a 618 total to maintain his league leading average at a 214 pace.

Barry Stjernberg

PCTL No. 2 won five points over Hoffman Lanes. The PCTL No. 2 bowlers fired a 1034 first game and a 2878 team series which was high for the night.

Ed Lippert led his PCTL No. 2 team with a consistent 643 total. His games were 215, 213, and 215. John Armon fired 234 and 204 to help out with a 607 series.

Hoffman Lanes, who won the second game 960 to 918 for two points, was led by Randy Aubert who fired a 247 middle game and a 600 even total.

It was PCTL No. 3 five points to two over Bank of Rolling Meadows. Bank of Rolling Meadows won the first game 921 to 850 but PCTL No. 3 won the second game 915 to 906 and went on to win the third game and the series point. The scoring in this match was led by Irv Hahnfeldt's 224 game and 590 series.

Next week the league will perform at Des Plaines Lanes with Des Plaines Ace Hardware rolling against Gaare Oil. Hoffman Lanes vs. Bank of Rolling Meadows, PCTL No. 3 vs. PCTL No. 2, and Morton Pontiac vs. Uncle Andy's will complete the schedule.

Company Plans International Races

Universal Oil Products Company in Des Plaines, revealed plans for extension of its auto racing activities in 1973 to the International Grand Prix circuit.

John O. Logan, president and chief executive officer of the diversified manufacturer, construction firm, and developer of petroleum refining technology, called the expanded program "a logical step for our company."

"We are convinced that racing has helped demonstrate UOP's technological capability to the general public in a way that no other corporate promotional activity has before," Logan said. "And since more than 30 per cent of our business is outside the United States, an internatiional auto racing program makes a lot of sense."

Logan said work was already underway with Don Nichols, president of Advanced Vehicle Systems of Signal Hill, Calif., on the development of a pair of open-wheeled UOP Shadow Formula One cars for the 1973 World Drivers' Championship series. In addition, UOP will continue to participate with the Shadow team in the Canadian-American Challenge Cup series for unlimited sports racing cars for the third consecutive year, he said.

"As in the past, UOP's participation in racing with Advanced Vehicle Systems will revolve around a serious study of technological questions of interest to UOP and its divisions.

"A major facet of the program will continue to be the exclusive use by UOP Shadow racing cars of lead-free fuels. Our experience so far has reinforced our belief that land-free gasoline is a logical step toward cleaner air through a reduction of harmful automotive exhaust emissions."

The UOP chief executive said Jackie Oliver of England, an international class Formula One endurance and Can-Am driver, would drive on both teams. Logan said that George Follmer, 1972 Trans-Am champion who also has a substantial lead in the Can-Am series with two races to go, will drive the second UOP Grand Prix car. This will be Follmer's first season driving for UOP and Oliver's third.

Alan Rees, 34-year-old co-founder in 1969 of March Engineering, Ltd., and a former partner of the late Jochen Rindt in Formula Two racing in Europe, will manage the UOP Shadow Formula One team out of headquarters in Northampton, England. The Shadow Can-Am team will be headquartered out of a facility adjacent to UOP world headquarters here.

Both the Formula One and Can-Am Shadows for 1973 will be completely new, Logan said. Tony Southgate, until recently chief designer for British Racing Motors (BRM), has begun work on the design of the new Formula One Shadows.

Logan said it would be much too early to speculate on the specific nature of the new UOP Shadow cars, but he did say that the Formula One cars would employ Cosworth-Ford engines and that both teams would compete on Goodyear tires.

In addition to various formulas of lead-free fuel developed by UOP's Process Division, the cars will use titanium tubing and other parts from Wolverine Tube Division; flexible metal hose and couplings from Flexonics Division and prototype racing seats custom fitted to drivers by Bostrom Division. "Unlike some sponsors whose products do not have automotive application, UOP has found the Shadow racing effort an ideal proving ground to demonstrate some of its advanced technology," Logan said.

HOMECOMING — the once-a-year fall extravaganza when high schools traditionally draw their biggest and most enthusiastic crowds of the year.

Homecoming — when alumni from all over the nation personally pay tribute to their prep alma mater.

Homecoming — a week of festivities that is augmented by float-building, climaxed at the varsity football game and culminated at the Friday night dance.

Homecoming — celebrated during the football season only and annually is perhaps the most insidious opponent on a head coach's schedule.

"It only serves to distract the players and keep their minds off the game," was one denouncing mentor's opinion.

"I'm all for having the entire student body participate in one general activity," adds another, "but couldn't it come during the basketball or baseball season?"

"We ought to be paid double during homecoming week, because it's about twice as tough to get these kids to play football," offers still another.

But isn't homecoming week purposely designed to generate spirit, to mentally prime an entire campus population, to channel the backing of four classes of students behind the common goal of varsity football victory?

Philosophically — yes.

On the gridiron — no.

"I had two boys show up late for practice because they had to rehearse walking to midfield with the queen," sighed one pilot. "Another was a king candidate. I'm not running a beauty pageant here. I'm trying to build a football team and my job depends on it."

The coaches get my sympathy.

None of them will deprive his athletes from partaking in a school function, no matter how distracting the atmosphere might be. Sure the boy bought his coach's patience the day he asked to be issued football equipment, but he deserves to stuff that wire mesh with napkins or dance with the homecoming queen as much as anyone else.

The trouble is reminding him that he has a job to do Friday night. The trouble is reminding him in the huddle that he has a blocking assignment instead of a date two hours from now. The trouble is reminding him that perhaps generations of his school's colorbearers are relying on him to contribute to a victory on the field, not at the drive-in.

The typical high school homecoming week is launched with the announcement that float-building will commence in the fieldhouse promptly after school is dismissed. Football practice is an automatic conflict.

Tuesday may unveil the homecoming king and queen candidates. Wednesday the vote goes out and the framework for the floats begins to take shape.

Thursday the black book takes preference over the playbook as the call for dates is the evening's first priority.

The morning of the game is spent getting hoarse at the pep assembly while the mums go on sale in the afternoon.

A football player no longer has time to meditate in the confines of his dark bedroom Friday after school. There's no time to think about how his second or third effort might win the game.

His date's corsage must be picked up by 4:30 and he still has to shine his shoes and reassure dad how careful he'll be with the car tonight.

He'll miss the halftime adjustments and changes in strategy, but the important thing is having his hair combed when he escorts his date to midfield as part of the homecoming court.

When he files out of the lockerroom for the second half, he catches a glimpse of the band setting up their amplifiers for the post-game dance.

The third and fouth quarters go unaltered — except that he's pulled aside and informed by a non-playing teammate that his senior class has won the best-float award.

It's only a slight bit of consolation. His team gets hammered by an equally aroused visiting rival who came to play football.

There's no time to mourn the defeat.

The Combo's already tuning its instruments and our football player still hasn't uncorked his bottle of Jade East. For him, the hard part of the evening is over. The rest is all downhill.

Just 10 feet away, the losing coach is being interrogated by reporters. Missed assignments, lackadaisical play and overall poor execution are cited.

The coach takes full blame. He'll get the irate calls from parents, alumni and second-guessers. He'll be the target for the gibes and barbs leveled at his coaching ability.

The game films won't lie. But they won't give the full explanation for defeat, either.

Homecoming has claimed another victim.

ENTHUSIASTIC FISHING reports continue to come from the upper Lake Michigan area, as trout and salmon fishermen are having a good early fall, particularly off Door, Kewaunee and Manitowoc counties.

Coho salmon are gathering before making their final spawning run up the rivers, and along with the rainbow and brown trout can be caught close to shore by trolling and casting. Lake trout remain a little deeper still, but they are also hitting.

Last week a 23 pound brown trout was caught off the Algoma harbor pier and a 22 pound 11 ounce laker was taken off Algoma by a troller. The third big fish of the same week was a 33 pound chinook taken at Sturgeon Bay.

Wisconsin's inland lakes are also producing plenty of fish action as anglers head north for a final fling before the snow flies.

Traditionally, this is also the time of year to take along the family and plenty of camera film for photographing the incredible beauty of the fall color change. It's an opportunity to combine fishing, hunting and sightseeing.

Hunting for grouse and woodcock has been slower than hunters would prefer, as leaves, while changing color, still hang thickly on trees and shrubs, providing plenty of cover. As a result, birds and whitetail deer are defying hunters by just sitting tight instead of flushing. In some areas mosquitoes are hanging on, proving to be hardier than anyone expected.

Some of the best fishing right now is for walleyes in most of the lakes throughout the state, while muskies are providing action in lakes in the central and northern zones.

Prior to the Horicon marsh waterfowl opening, anglers are having an easy time of filling walleye bags out of Beaver Dam and Fox lakes in that area. Sightseers are also enjoying the beauty of the thousands of geese in the Horicon, along with the changing color of the Lowland hardwoods and maples.

Fishing is almost not worth going after in the Wisconsin Rapids area, but color is at its peak this week with the oaks and tamaracks showing their fall trappings. Waterfowl prospects are hard to predict, although 5,000 geese were counted at the Necedah Refuge in Juneau County, plus some geese in the Nekoosa area in Wood County. Ducks in the area are taking advantage of the flooding and are feeding in corn and oat fields.

Besides the excellent musky action in the far north Woodruff area, anglers are also taking walleyes and mushrooms. The best walleye action in the area is on Kewaguesaga Lake in Oneida County, while muskies are coming out of several lakes in the immediate Woodruff area, including Little Arbor Vitae. Mushrooms are everywhere.

In the west central area of Wisconsin heavy rains and high waters make fishing and hunting not only somewhat fruitless but occasionally dangerous. Ruffed grouse hunting has been excellent, though, for the hunters who avoid the high water areas. All of the bottom lands are flooded, which may eventually prove to be a boon for hunters who like to stalk and jump-shoot ducks during this early part of the waterfowl season.

Walleye fishing is improving on Lake Arbutus in Jackson County, annually one of Wisconsin's better fall fishing lakes. Musky fishing is fair in the Eau Claire area, as is walleye fishing, but the latter is picking up and should continue to improve. Nearly everywhere throughout central and southern Wisconsin high stream, river and lake waters make largemouth bass fishing extremely slow. Smallmouth bass fishing is good to excellent, however, in many of the larger cold water lakes, such as Geneva and Green Lake — which also offer plenty of walleye action.

JACK McGEADY OF Palatine found the best way to avoid the eccentricities of midwestern weather when he fled to the sun and warmth of Florida for a few days of fishing in the Gulf Stream waters.

The McGeadys stayed at the Newport Motel in Miami Beach, where arrangements were made for Jack to join a charter fishing party in pursuit of the magnificent black marlin, or sailfish, or perhaps a colorful dolphin, or even a tasty tuna.

What McGeady didn't necessarily expect to catch was a 253 pound black tip shark.

It's fortunate that McGeady's charter was an all day affair, since it took him three hours to land the 8 foot monster on 95 pound line.

After returning home to Palatine, things must have seemed pretty dull, because McGeady left almost immediately for Wyoming to hunt mule deer.

JACK MCGEADY, Palatine, with his 253 pound shark taken on the charter boat "S.S. Ruth" out of Miami Beach.

STRAIGHT AHEAD. Hard-running Barry Morse (33) of Conant drives for more of his 154 total yards in action Friday evening. Kenneth Jaffke of Schaumburg moves in for the stop. Schaumburg won a dramatic 24-21 decision.

New Meeting Leaps Into Sportsman's

No, he's not a disgruntled racing fan down on his luck — he's Jumpin Joe Gerlach and he'll be leaping nine stories from a giant hot-air balloon into a foam-rubber mattress in a hair-raising promotional performance to spark the opening on Thurs., Oct. 12, of the 1972 Balmoral Jockey Club thoroughbred meeting at Sportsman's Park.

Gerlach's daring "suicide leap," featured on national TV at last year's Rose Bowl game and more recently on Johnny Carson's Tonight Show, will entertain fans on each of Balmoral's first three programs at Sportsman's — Thurs., Fri. and Sat., Oct. 12-14.

The famous "daredevil sponge plunge" will be performed in the infield in front of the tote board between the eighth and ninth races on each of the three opening days of Balmoral's scheduled 27-day fall season at the Cicero track.

Though Gerlach's galvanic leap is only a year old, it's already hailed as one of the most exciting acts in show business, surpassing in many respects the perilous antics of Evel Knievel.

From a shaky plank dangling beneath a giant red-white-blue gondola swaying in the breeze, Jumpin Joe executes a beautiful swan dive, makes a complete backward flip, and — hurtling downward at 49 miles an hour — crashes into a foam rubber mattress, 6 by 12 by 3½ feet!

A Balmoral spokesman leaves no doubt that Gerlach and his rousing sponge plunge is being presented to pump new zest into local interest surrounding thoroughbred racing in the Chicagoland area, at the same time heralding Balmoral's inaugural season at Sportsman's Park.

"The act is one of the most electrifying and heart-stirring feats ever performed and a sure crowd pleaser. Let's face it, the sports-racing fan can use a little outside entertainment once in a while. Besides, it's a great way to remind everybody that another Balmoral meeting is on the way," the spokesman said.

Gerlach's sky-dive lasts only 2¼ seconds and as such is a brief but deadly flirtation with danger. The slightest miscalculation as he estimates wind velocity and the sway of his balloon with the sponge below looking as small as a pack of cigarettes could prove tragic.

As Jumpin Joe puts it:

"Simply, I must be perfect — it's a matter of survival. There is no chance for me if I miss the sponge. Either I land correctly — or I'm dead."

Hopefully, Gerlach will pull off his three Sportsman's Park jumps without injury. Diving in one way or another since he was 10, Joe exudes the confidence a pro of his breed must possess. Fact is, he's not a bit concerned about his first leap on Thurs., Oct. 12, at Sportsman's.

It's that second jump on Friday, the 13th, serving to remind Gerlach that he suffered his only serious injury on his 13th jump last July at Knott's Berry Farm in Los Angeles when he failed to hit the mattress properly after an 80-foot leap.

Commandos Rally For 6-6 Deadlock

Hoffman Commandos remained tied for first place as they came from behind to tie a fired-up Bloomingdale homecoming team 6-6.

Bloomingdale scored first when the strong gusty wind played havoc with a punt center, allowing the Bears to recover in the end zone for their only TD.

The Commando defense started slowly but played an outstanding game, allowing only 58 yards. Larry Gober, defensive captain had a very good day, blocking a punt and nearly rushing it in.

The Commando pass defense intercepted two passes, one by Stuart Ironside and one by Dan Hayes.

The Commandos' offense could muster only one touchdown on a QB sneak by Jeff Lapidus who was called many times to get crucial first downs. Tim Tyrrell went in for the point after only to have it called back due to a holding penalty. The Commandos were hampered several times with penalties totaling 80 yards. The offense gained 160 yards and 10 first downs but just couldn't seem to get that one big play.

Glen Ellyn assisted the Commandos by tying Schaumburg 0-0. That first place tie will be broken next week as the Commandos meet the Schaumburg eleven at Schaumburg.

Elk Grove Drops Hockey Opener

The Elk Grove Village Amateur Hockey Association Midget Team opened its Polar Dome season against Dundee V.S.W. Monday night, but dropped a 4-3 heartbreaker.

Elk Grove dominated the first half of the test as defensemen Bill Halfpenny, Robbie Goeske, Mike Tucker and Bob Brunn, forwards Ron Cleckler, Mark Gustafson, Bob Lamantia, Tom Balcer, Larry Mitsch, Mark Christensen, Bob Morita, Jim Samuels and Mark Rodseth and goalies Steve Cimino and Larry McDermott starred.

While outshooting Dundee, 10-1, in the first period, Christensen tallied Elk Grove's initial goal of the season assisted by Rodseth. Cleckler added another assisted by Halfpenny and Elk Grove led, 2-0.

Dundee finally broke through at the end of the second period to cut the lead to 2-1 before going on top, 3-2, near the end of the third period.

Elk Grove pulled its goalie in the final minute and Dundee scored again to erase a later tally by Halfpenny assisted by Goeske and Balcer.

4-H meeting —

An informational meeting related to the 4-H Dog Project will be held this evening, Oct. 11, at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights, starting at 7:30 p.m.

A short movie will be will be shown on the subject of dogs followed by a discussion period led by two experts in the field of obedience training and conformation showing.

Open to all 4-H leaders, members, their parents and friends who are interested in learning more about the dog project as conducted by the 4-H; you may call Mrs. Dorothy Jacobs at 392-3418, for any information.

International K.C. show —

Entries are coming in fast for International's second annual fall dog show to be held on Saturday, Nov. 4, at the International Amphitheatre, Chicago.

A slate of 27 judges from 15 states will select the top dogs in the show. A. Peter Knoop of Weston, Conn., will pick the Best in Show dog.

A large entry in the obedience competition is expected, what with the increase in the trophy list for this part of the show. The obedience crowd likes a one-day show and this gives them a chance to get in a show and then go on to another one the next day.

There will also be special competitions for young people from the ages of 10 to 15 in Junior Showmanship supervised by professional judges.

As a special feature, The Chicago Police Department Canine Unit will present demonstrations during the show.

Entries close Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 5 p.m. If you require entry blanks or information you may contact the International Kennel Club, 4300 S. Halsted St., Chicago, Ill., 60609. The phone number is 927-5580 and ask for the kennel club office.

Busy show times —

Lot of shows are coming up: Skokie Valley Kennel Club will hold its all-breed dog show this Sunday, Oct. 15, at Arlington Park Race Track.

The following Sunday, Oct. 22, the Goldcoast Kennel Club will hold a conformation and obedience fun match at the Chicago Avenue Armory located just east of Michigan Ave., Chicago. Mail entries will cost $3.00 — gate entries $4.00. Each additional class $1.50. Contact the match secretary, Alice Hosford, 64 W. Ohio St., Chicago, Ill., 60610, for further information.

Fat in dog's diet —

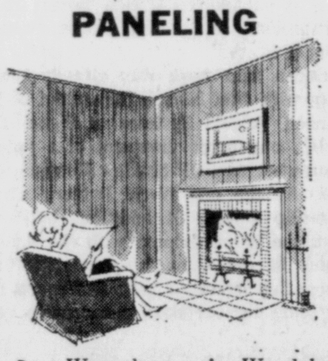

Fat is not only good for dogs, it is essential. But dogs need just the right amount of fat, and the right kind.

Although it's important that a dog has fat in his diet, over-supplementation can be dangerous. Complete and balanced products produced by reputable manufacturers don't need supplementation because they meet all the dog's normal fat requirements.

Barks & Bays —

In this day of exports, imports, balance of trade, etc., it is interesting to observe that the U.S.A., Canada and France are the leading countries in dog exports.

Arlington Boys Football

by LARRY DICKERSON

The Rams kept rolling in the fourth week of Arlington Heights Boys Football League play to bring their winning streak to four and clinch a first place playoff spot in the Senior Division.

In the Varsity League, the Vikings and Browns each won and will play each other in the playoff game regardless of next Saturday's results.

Three challengers remain in the Junior League as the Cardinals stayed on top by winning over the Cowboys 14-6. The Packers and Beass also won this week and will be pitted against each other Saturday in a showdown battle between contenders to break a second place tie.

Rams 26 — Redskins 0

Coach Archie Loch's Rams scored in every quarter to beat the Redskins 26-0 and remain undefeated, untied, and in first place in the Senior League.

Jamie Braddock swept 19 yards for the first touchdown soon after the opening whistle. In the second quarter, Quarterback Barry Carlstedt scored on a 46-yard keeper play. Dan Lewis banged over from the three in the third canto. Rick Abel fielded a punt and dashed 25 yards for the final TD.

Middle guard Dave Horwath blocked a punt and recovered a fumble, Dan Lewis recovered a fumble, and Mark Henderson made multiple tackles behind the line to lead the Rams to thier third shutout in four games. The Rams "B" team played much of the game and maintained control on both defense and offense.

Linebacker Mark Duckworth made 10 tackles to lead the Redskin defense, asisted by Brian Purkis, Glenn Eisenhuth, and Dan Frase who intercepted two passes.

Brian Munson saved a Ram TD in a courageous stand by the Redskins.

Lions 22 — 49'ers 0

The Lions stayed in contention for the Senior League crown by walloping the 49'ers 22-0. They take another crack at the first place Rams Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

Little time was wasted getting points on the board as the Lions marched to the 49'er five. John Gillen ran over for the first touchdown. The attempt for extra point was no good. A short time later, Dave Thielemann bucked six yards for the second score. Tom North scored the extra points on a pass from Rick Sutton. Keith Siroky, a key 49'er back was injured.

In the third quarter, Dave Thielemann again plunged for a TD. Tom North ran for the conversion.

Jeff Prior, Lion tackle, blocked well throughout the game. Sam Sassar and Rick Schnell spearheaded the Lion defense.

Gary Adams punting kept the 49'ers in their own territory most of the game.

Fumbles deep in their own territory again plagued the 49'ers.

Alert Tom Busby recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass. In addition, 49'ers Art Klein, Tom Murray, Peter Shaw, and Jason Slezak were outstanding defensively.

Vikings 12 — Saints 0

The South-side Vikings clinched a first place playoff spot in the Varsity League by blanking the Saints 12-0. Rob Erickson scored in the first and third quarters to lead the way behind good blocking by Bob Bateson.

Erickson's first TD was on a flare pass from Kevin Collis. The play covered 32 yards.

Hard running halfback Jeff Asbury and quarterback Doug Kalahar sparked Viking "B" team play. Don Shoen and Steve Salis opened big holes in the Saint line. Paul Seligmann was outstanding on defense.

Viking Greg Adams continued to keep the opposition in the hole with booming punts.

The Vikings' second touchdown came on a 10-yard sweep by Erickson around right end.

Mike Bulger made 10 tackles and assists and Ken Sadowski made an important pass interception to lead the Viking defense. Viking end Brian Johnson played good overall defense including a fumble recovery.

Dan Weber gained 81 yards in 15 carries and Rick Sanders 60 yards in 11 attempts behind blocking by fullback Bill Link to lead the Saint offense.

Bryan Berry, Tom Thomas, and Mike Andejeski were outstanding defensively for the Saints.

Browns 6 — Steelers 0

The Browns continued in a first place tie in the Varsity League by puncturing a determined Steeler defense 6-0.

Browns fullback Jeff Smithern made 75 yards in 10 carries count by running 10 yards for a touchdown, breaking four tackles along the way in the third quarter.

Execution by Browns quarterback Bob More was flawless behind offensive blocking by center Mike Diaz.

Jim Butts excelled on defense for the Browns, making 14 unassisted tackles. Halfback Mike Williams and end Mark Masilotti aided the cause. Nicky Zec intercepted a Steeler aerial.

The Browns gained 229 yards total while holding the Steelers to 68, only 10 in the second half.

The tenacious Steeler defense led by Chris Bobowski, Mike Paice, Kent Mozkus, and Brian Gallagher recovered five Brown fumbles and held them to a single touchdown.

Paul Stolzner and Mike McCall were leading ground gainers for the Steelers.

Giants 20 — Eagles 16

Coach George O'Brien's Giants outscored a tough Eagle team 20-16 to vault into second place in the Varsity League.

John Salat went 75 yards around end to score for the Eagles in the first quarter. Chuck Gilman recovered a fumble for another Eagle TD in the second quarter.

Gary Vevang returned the kickoff 70 yards for the first Giant score. Stan Huffer blasted over for the two-pointer.

In the fourth quarter, Stu Huffer filled the air with footballs as he threw touchdown passes to Jim Schnur and Gary Vegang.

Stan Huffer was the leading rusher and tackler for the Giants. Tim O'Brien intercepted a pass from his safety position and guard Bob Sayre recovered a fumble and made tackles.

Kevin Wilson picked up 37 yards running for the Eagles behind a strong offensive line. Chris Birkett picked off a Giant pass and Dave Wadsworth and Bill Breister also bolstered the Eagle defense.

Cardinals 14 — Cowboys 6

The Cardinals stayed in first place in the Junior League by grinding out a 14-6 win over the Cowboys.

All points were scored in the second quarter. Cardinal Bill Hajek started it by exploding off tackle for 10 yards and a TD. Pat O'Brien scored the extra points on a pass from John Sayre.

Flanker Jim Rudolph took in a pass from Jay Fish and sprinted 30 yards pursued by the entire Cardinal team to score the Cowboy's first touchdown of the season.

On a fourth and 10 situation from their own 30, Cardinal Pat O'Brien threw to Jeff Crouch, who ran to the Cowboy 45-yard line to start the winning touchdown drive. End Todd Crispin took in a 17-yard pass from Pat O'Brien for O'Brien's third consecutive completion and the final score.

Cardinal tackle Robert Ward was instrumental in containing the Cowboy attack. Notable defensive play was performed by both Todd Crispin and Tom Sadowski of the Cards.

Along with Jim Rudolph, Greg Taras and Jim Hauskey led a rejuvenated Cowboy offense while Darren Breit intercepted three passes and Mark Halleck recovered two fumbles to lead a hardnosed Cowboy defense.

Packers 14 — Falcons 0

A hard hitting Packer team punched out two touchdowns and a conversion while stomping out Falcon threats to reign victorious 14-0. The Packers have not been scored on since the first half of their opener with the Cardinals.

A 38-yard run by Greg Dick and a 23-yard pass from Peter Senten to Rich Kita livened up the first quarter, but neither team was able to score.

Jay Behn, in the company of other Packers, blocked a Falcon punt in the second quarter. Soon after, Dan Makeever slammed in from one foot out. Greg Dick swept in untouched for the two-pointer.

The Falcons, led by Jeff Braddock and Tony Aiello threatened in the second, third, and early fourth quarters, but after that the Packers began a relentless drive that led to another score.

Opening the fourth quarter, a 33-yard pass play from Falcon Bruce Pokuta to Scotty Anderson highlighted a 67-yard drive to the Packer three. The Pack held and barreled out of their end zone on a 23-yard run by Andy Dickerson and from then on it was their game. The Packers picked up five first downs in a 97-yard drive culminated by a TD pass from Eric Schull to Rich Kita. The conversion was no good.

Dan Kalahar and Jay Behn belted Falcon runners for a total of 50 yards in lost yardage. Dan Makeever, Dave Gardner, Andy Dickerson, and Peter Senten also played outstanding defense.

Scott Meyer, Jim O'Brien, Harry Brown, and Jeff Braddock were stalwart defenders for the Falcons.

Bears 14 — Colts 6

Curt Roy of the Bears threw for two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to drop the Colts 14-6.

After the first half, the Colts came on strong to register the first score on a one-yard plunge by fullback Kevin McCarthy in the third quarter. The Bears had a TD recalled on a clip penalty in the first period.

Curt Roy then lefted a long pass to Dan Borkowski, who got behind the Colt safety, for a 50-yard touchdown play. The Bears failed on the attempted conversion, leaving the score tied 6-6. Then, on fourth and eight with two minutes to go in the game, Roy unleashed another pass to hit Scott Bastable in the end zone to clinch the victory. This time Brian Wachlin ran in for the extra points.

"B" team quarterback Jim Maloney got off some good runs while Dan Berbgren and Brian Laub turned in excellent blocking performances for the Bears. Safety Chuck Kern and linebacker Ben Parker tackeld hard and guard Dan Stewart recovered two fumbles.

Colt Curt White made several key first downs while gaining 72 yards behind key blocking by Dan Thorpe. Kevin McCarthy, Mike Butts, and Steve Fuessle led a gallant Colt defensive effort.

The Bears were spurred on by the League's only cheerleading corps led by Tracey Williams and Flippy Clutter.

National League Dominates 1972 All-Major League Baseball Team

by RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK — (NEA) —Those baseball fans who are believers in the superiority of the National League have some new ammunition:

For the third year in a row, National League players dominate the All-Major League team chosen by the 600 players in both leagues in a poll conducted by Newspaper Enterprise Association.

The National League held a 6-4 advantage in 1970 and a 7-3 edge in 1971 but this year only two American Leaguers — Dick Allen and Sparky Lyle — kept the Nationals from sweeping all 10 positions.

Cesar Cedeno, the Houston Astros' flashy center fielder, was the leading vote-getter in the sixth annual NEA poll, earning a spot on 90 per cent of the players' ballots. Allen, who led the Chicago White Sox back into pennant contention this season after spending the first nine years of his career in the National League, placed second with 88 per cent.

There were only two repeaters from the 1971 NEA All-Major League Team, left fielder Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates and third baseman Joe Torre of St. Louis. And only two other players on the 1972 squad had been named to the team previously, Billy Williams of the Cubs in 1970 and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati in both 1969 and 1970.

The voting by positions:

First base: During his stormy National League days, Allen was called Rich, Richie and a lot of other things that weren't very complimentary. This year he has been called Dick and the best thing to hit Chicago since Lake Michigan. He made the White Sox one of baseball's most exciting teams and was making a serious threat to lead the league in homers, runs batted in and batting average as the season neared its end. He had no real competition for the first base spot, Lee May of Houston and Stargell tying for second place with only 4 per cent of the vote.

Second base: Bouncy Joe Morgan, who was a key factor in the Cincinnati Reds' 1972 comeback after coming from Houston in an off-season trade, won easily with 71 per cent of the vote. Minnesota's Rod Carew, with 24 per cent, was second.

Shortstop: After three straight years as runner-up, the Chicago Cubs' rangy Don Kessinger finally made the first team. But though he is having his best season at the plate and a typically outstanding year in the field, Kessinger had a strong fight from San Francisco's Chris Speier before winning, 40 per cent of the vote to 28. Luis Aparicio of Boston was third with 9 per cent at a position where 13 players received votes.

Third base: Torre, the only saving grace in a dismal Cardinal season, won for the second year in a row, though he was named on only 46 per cent of the ballots. Ron Santo of the Cubs (18 per cent), Brooks Robinson of Baltimore (15 per cent) and Rich Hebner of Pittsburgh (12 per cent) provided the competition.

Outfield: Houston's new manager, Leo Durocher, has said that the 21-year-old Cedeno is a better player than Willie Mays was at the same age. Praise like that coming from Durocher is the last step before canonization and the major league players seemed to agree as they made Cedeno an overwhelming choice.

The second outfield spot goes to Williams, whose battle with Cedeno for the National League batting title kept Cub fans from being lulled to sleep by the peaceful surroundings of Wrigley Field this summer. Williams was named on 77 per cent of the ballots.

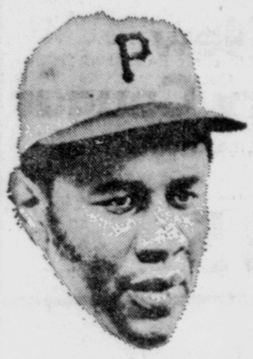

The slugging Stargell took the third spot with 37 per cent of the votes, with Joe Rudi of Oakland (21 per cent and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh (10 per cent) trailing. Atlanta's Henry Aaron, who earned first team status in four of the first five NEA polls, was sixth this time.

Catcher—Bench, the Reds' mainstay who was making something of a comeback at 24, outdistanced runner-up Manny Sanguillen, 82 per cent to 11.

Starting pitcher: To call Steve Carlton the ace of the Phillie staff is the damnedest of faint praise. As Bill Conlin of the Philadelphia Daily News wrote earlier this year, Carlton pitching with the Phillies is like a Pulitzer Prize winner writing for "Jack & Jill." Carlton was named on 81 per cent of the players' ballots, while Wilbur Wood of the White Sox was a distant second with 12 per cent.

Relief pitcher—It was the Boston Red Sox who sold Babe Ruth to the Yankees in 1920. And it was the Red Sox who traded Sparky Lyle to the Yankees in 1972. Some people never learn. Lyle appeared in almost half the Yankees victories as he kept them in the pennant race with tireless relief work. He was mentioned on 65 per cent of the player ballots, while Montreal's Mike Marshall (16 per cent) and the Mets' Tug McGraw (8 per cent) also made fair showings.

Tickets Still Available For Globetrotters' Visit

The familiar Harlem Globetrotters will bring their fun-filled form of basketball magic to the Arlington High School gym for the first time in eight years this Monday, Oct. 16, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The Globetrotters, who have entertained more than 71 million people in their 46-year history, have played in gymnasiums in this area almost annually for several years.

Tickets for Monday's attraction are $4.50 for adults and $2.50 for children aged 12 and under. They are available at Cunningham & Reilly sporting goods, 45 S. Dunton; the Tollway Arlington National Bank; Bank & Trust Co. (Arlington Market), Yardstick Shop (Northpoint Shopping Center) and Palatine Tailored Drapery.

The game is being sponsored by the Arlington High School Boosters Club.

Basketball fans from 89 countries and virtually every city in the country have marvelled at the hilarious antics of the Trotters. The team's popularity has skyrocketed in recent years.

One reason for the rise in popularity is the weekly animated cartoon series seen Sunday mornings on CBS television. The show is the top-rated children's program on the air and is currently seen in more than 20 countries.

"Including the foreign showings, we have estimated that more than one billion people watched the Globetrotter cartoon show last year," says Stan Greeson, President.

Coming into the 1972-73 season, the Trotters have an amazing all-time record of 10,730 won and 323 lost.

Hockey Coaches Clinic Slated For Palatine

Ed Price, President of the Palatine Amateur Hockey Association, wishes to announce that a Coaches Clinic will be held on Saturday, Oct. 14 at 9 a.m. at the Palatine Park District Recreation Building.

The Association feels very fortunate to have Mr. Tim Norbeck instructing the clinic. Mr. Norbeck is the author of "A Guide To Better Hockey Coaching And Play" which is considered to be one of the better hockey instructional books on the market.

Tim starred on the Hamilton College hockey team in Clinton, N.Y. and has been coaching various teams in the midwest. His teams have won many invitationals and have even played in the nationals.

Some of the things Tim covers in his book and will expound on at the clinic are, working with young boys, basic drills and patterns, dealing with referees and parents, sticks and equipment, and rules of hockey.

The clinic is free and is open to all interested parents and friends of hockey. All men who will be coaching in the 72-73 season are asked to make every effort to attend the clinic.

Last year, all John Benson saved was $54.32.

This year, he joined the Payroll Savings Plan.

Poor John. Money just seemed to slip right through his fingers. Every time he planned to stash something away, there wasn't anything left.

Then John decided to join the Payroll Savings Plan where he works. Now, an amount he specifies is automatically set aside from his check before he gets it. And invested in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Because John has become such a systematic saver, he's almost forgotten about it. When he gets around to remembering, he's going to have quite a nest egg laid away.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

If you keep forgetting to save something out of your check, join the Payroll Savings Plan and let somebody else do the remembering for you.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

by GENIE CAMPBELL

The brown and yellow squared linoleum in the hallway of the Roberts' home is cracked and faded. Small pieces have broken off to expose the raw backing that without cover has trapped small particles of dust and dirt.

The wallpaper in the main room that doubles as both the living and dining area for the family is shredded where it meets the baseboard and both sunbleached and stained, indicating that the elements could not be held back from damaging the inside as well as the outside of the white clapboard house.

Fingerprint smudges are visible around the doorways, put there by small children grabbing hold as they rush around the corners in their play.

Mrs. Roberts tries to keep her house clean and presentable. Yet even the best housekeeping can only go so far in erasing the shabby, deteriorating surroundings.

A second-hand torn couch hugs one wall of the main room along with a double mattress that at night beds down two of the four Roberts children.

Across the room in one corner, decidedly incongruous with the rest of the meager decor, sits a large Mediterranean console television set. A second glance confirms that it is color.

THE SAME CAN be said about the Romeros, Olsons and Thompsons.

Impoverished surroundings broken by the slight glamour of a large expensive television set.

Yet it is difficult to condemn this one inconsistency. The indigent desire luxuries too. A house and, in most instances, even a new car are totally beyond their grasp. A TV, however, is a tangible sign of success, though the monthly payments represent an extra burden the poor really can't afford.

The nucleus of the family is the television set. For the majority of low income families, it is their only source of entertainment.

Dispersed throughout the suburbs, they socialize very little with others in their economic bracket. Lack of transportation thwarts such fraternizing. And when rent is a monthly crisis, there is no way for the poor of suburbia to match the lifestyle of their more fortunate neighbors.

Movies are off limits. The average price of a theater ticket appears astronomical to the needy.

Children from low income families are also unintentionally excluded from participating in park district programs, Little League games and Girl Scout activities. Enrollment fees, cost of materials and uniforms are items that cannot be included in the budgets of the underprivileged.

SHOPPING IS NOT the enjoyable diversion that most housewives find it to be. It is disheartening. Money for new clothing is tight.

"I can't remember when I had anything new to wear," said Mrs. Sanchez, who admitted she does most all of the shopping for her family, particularly clothing items, at local garage and rummage sales. Large discount stores are her only other sources for personal necessities.

The Thompsons,, who have seven children in school and two of preschool age, take out a bank loan every fall to outfit their offspring for the new term. They pay off the loan gradually during the year.

"We pay bills and our rent," said Mrs. Thompson. "We never have money to save."

At Christmas the Thompsons try to make do by buying each of their kids one little gift. A turkey is usually given to them.

But while socially the poor of suburbia suffer for lack of an adequate income, the shortcomings of their lifestyle often carry over to create an educational disadvantage for their children.

"They just don't have the everyday experiences the majority of children do growing up in the suburbs," said Lee Mydill, Title I teacher aide for School District 59.

The Title I program of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act offers special attention beyond the regular classroom to culturally deprived children who have difficulty in keeping up with their classmates and thus tend to lose interest altogether in school at an early age.

WHILE MOST suburban children are able to receive help in their studies from parents, the offspring of migrant workers in particular, do not have the same advantage. Most of their parents usually have received little more than the equivalent of an elementary education. Even worse, their home life can act as a further deterrent to their schooling.

Terry was behind all his classmates. He appeared listless and bored with all his studies. Failing miserably, he was diagnosed as a slow learner and ready to be transferred into a special school when one teacher decided to call at his home.

The explanation was forthcoming. Living in a small cramped trailer and forced to sleep with two older brothers in one double bed, Terry just wasn't getting enough sleep at night. Allowing him to take a short nap upon arriving at school each morning proved to be the answer. His school work immediately improved and his attention span too.

School Districts 62 and 15 have instituted similar programs to aid offspring of low income families and break down the language barriers experienced by Mexican-American children.

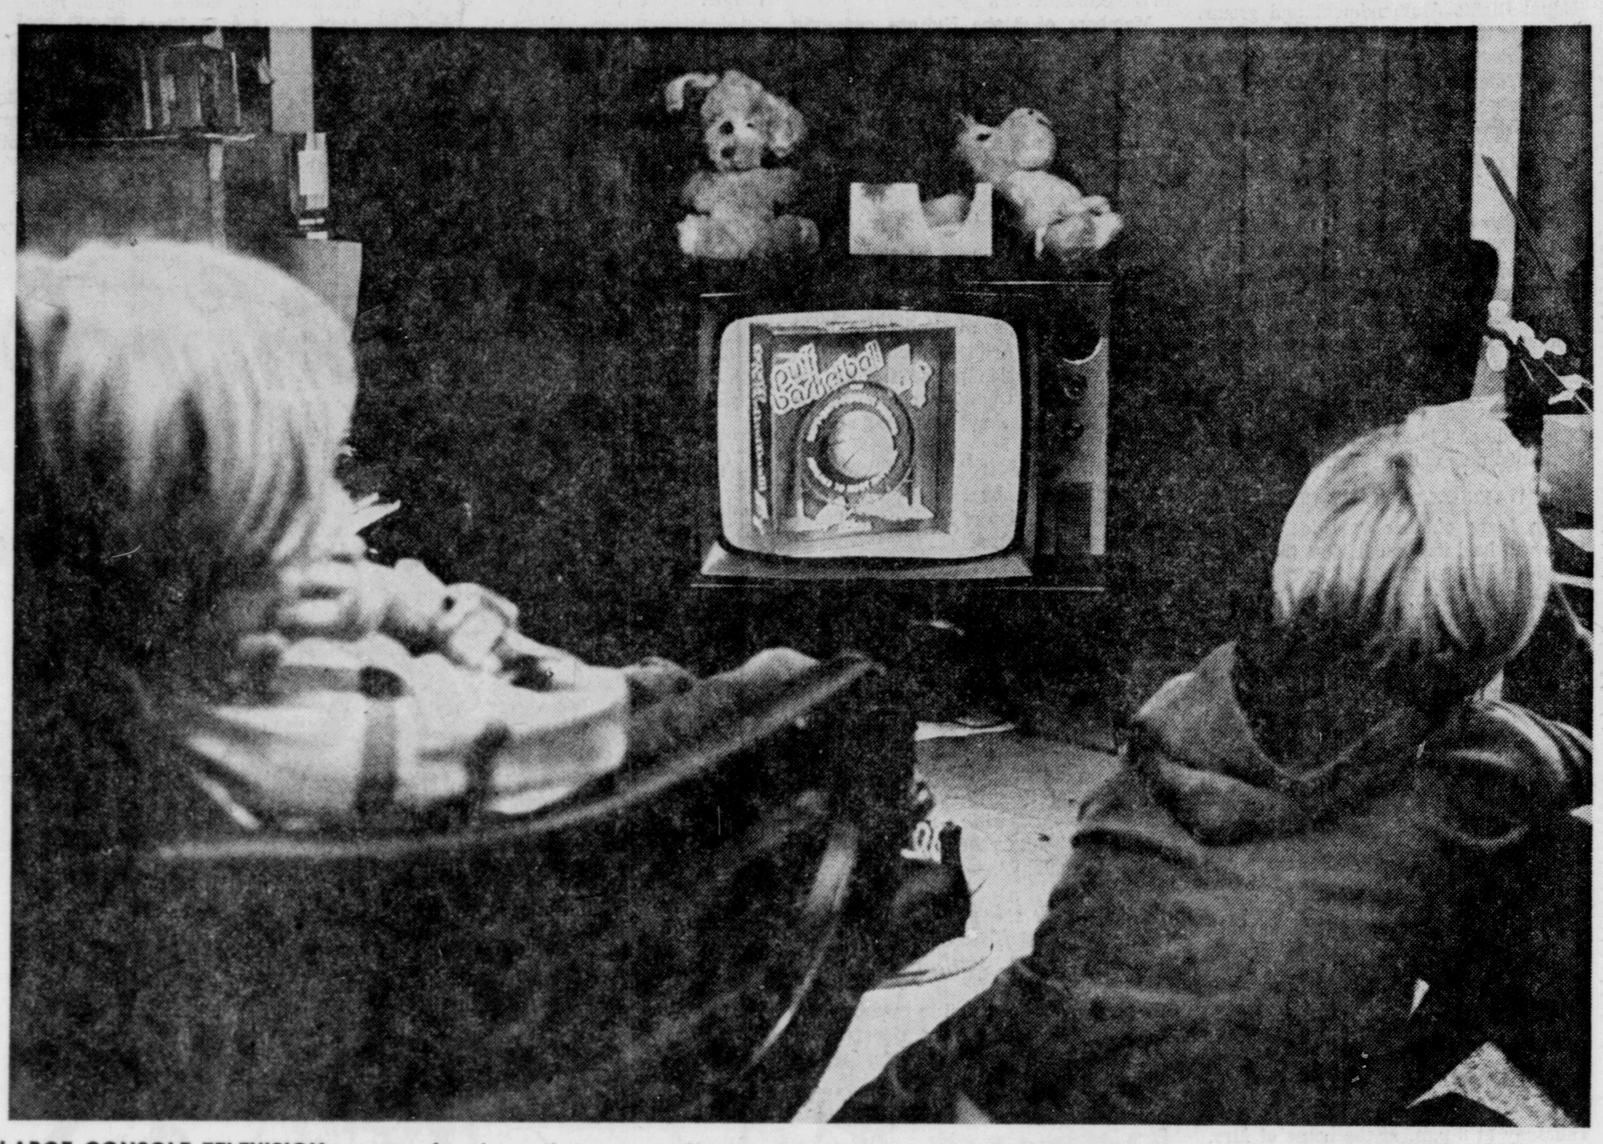

Head Start is another solution. For preschool children of poverty-stricken families, the program is designed to overcome that cultural gap which would hinder a child's progress once he began his formal schooling.

IT MIGHT INCLUDE a trip to the zoo. Such simple excursions are experiences that many children from low income families would never otherwise have.

Head Start is sponsored by the federal government and administered through the Northwest Coook County Opportunity Council (NORWESCO), although 20 per cent of the funds must come through the community.

This includes not only monetary donations but also time, clothing, furniture, toys and other equipment. The program was discontinued for two months during the summer because money ran out. It began again last month.

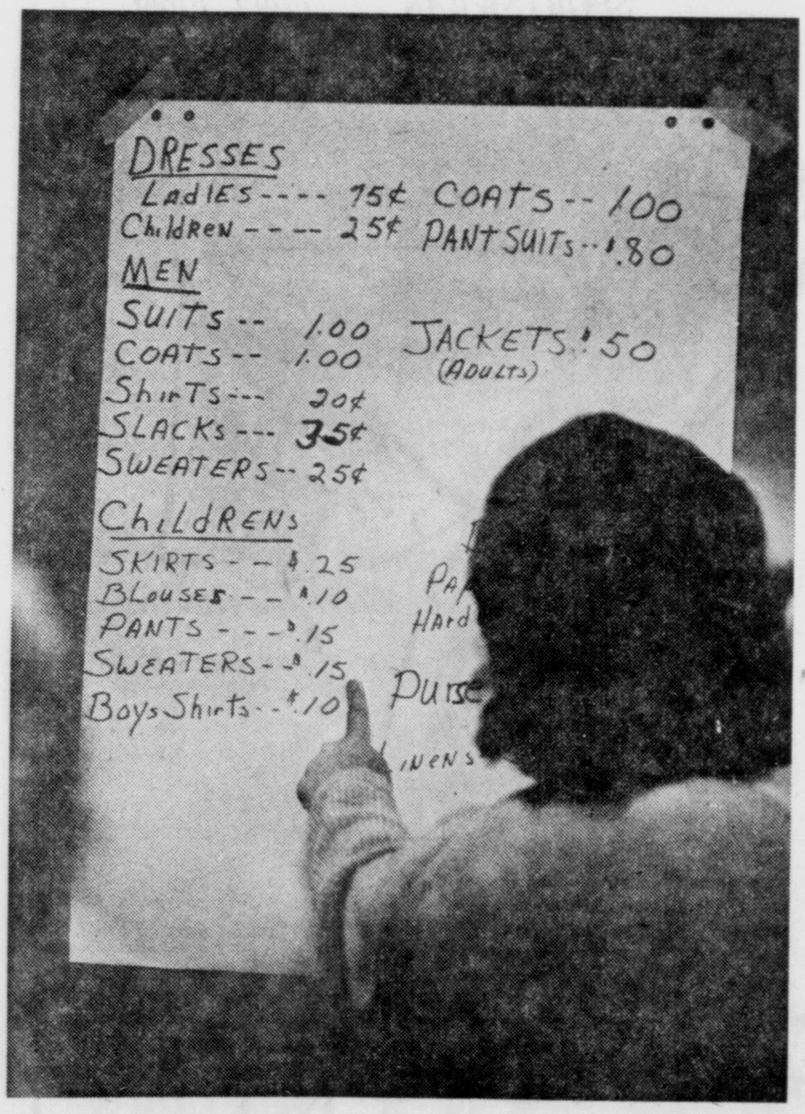

"Education is one way to break out," said Lee Mydill. "We are helping the poor to help themselves. Unless we can help them to break out of this poor cycle, we'll be supporting them on welfare. Hopefully many, by receiving their education, can make that leap from the poverty level to middle class."

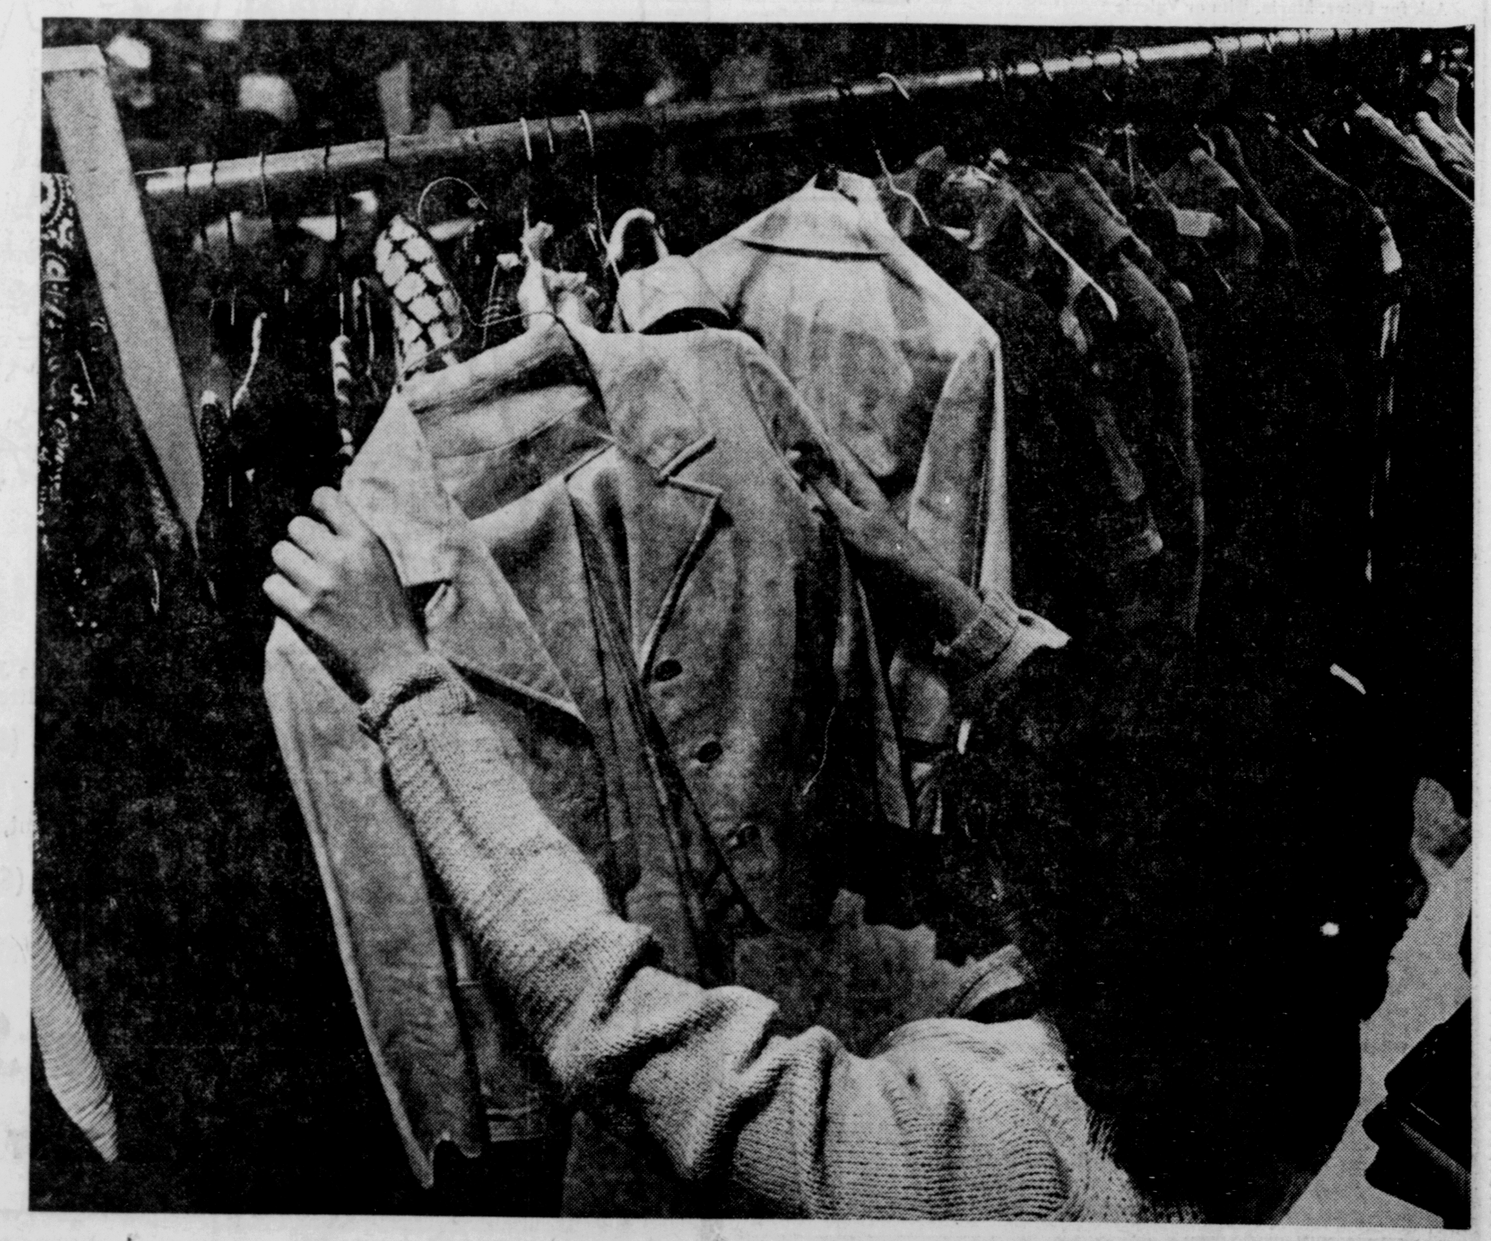

LARGE CONSOLE TELEVISION sets are found in many homes of the suburban poor. It is a status symbol for that portion of the suburban population that cannot afford to buy a new home or car. It may also be the only source of entertainment for the offspring of the poor who cannot afford to participate in organized activities or even see a movie.

Suburban Living

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

WHEN RENT AND FOOD take so much of the suburban indigent's paycheck, homemakers are forced to seek out rummage sales for bargains at a minimal price.

ONE POOR HOUSEWIFE residing in the northwest suburbs admitted she couldn't remember when she was able to afford something new to wear. Like many other poor suburbanites she frequents rummage sales that display racks of dresses and suits currently out of style and so discarded by members of the more fortunate middle class whose salaries allow them to be fashion conscious.

Speaking Of...

Books I Have Liked

by KAY MARSH
(Second of two parts)

The way Congress keeps moving these holidays around, I'm not sure just when Columbus Day is this year. But whether you observe it on the traditional Oct. 12, or celebrated on the 9th, now is a good time to take your own voyage of discovery into new worlds of books. Here, to help you navigate, is another list of novels you might want to explore. Again, most of these books are fairly recent; most are available in paperbacks; all, I hope, are ones you'll enjoy (or want to consider for gifts: Christmas, you know, is closer than you think).

"Novels of Adventure," or at least good ones, aren't easy to come by these days. If this is your kind of book, try Pierre Salinger's "On Instructions of My Government" (1971). This is a tale of international crisis, diplomatic intrigue and political expediency, written by a man whose own experience in government adds credibility to his novel.

James Dickey's "Deliverance" (1970) is another best-selling novel of adventure. It is, moreover, one you can read at two levels: as an exciting tale of perilous suspense, or as a work of literary excellence. It tells of four men, all solid citizens of modern suburbia, who go canoeing down a wild north Georgia river. While there's plenty of violence, murder and primitive action here, the more engrossing conflicts are Man versus Nature, and Man versus Himself. Ed, the narrator, emergesa s the dominant character and the book's closest equivalent of a hero. Even more fascinating and memorable is the complex Lewis, who "wanted to be immortal," and tries "to rise above time."

NOVELS OF FANTASY. This is another relatively undeveloped category in current fiction. In fact, I haven't read any recent books of this type that I'd recommend to you. However, there are still a few book lovers in the world, as well as younger readers coming along, who have not as yet discovered J.R.R. Tolkien's classics. So, as a public service, let me just suggest here that all such rush right out and buy "The Hobbit." If you are as charmed as most first readers are, then don't stop until you read the three books that make up "The Lord of the Rings," Tolkien's trilogy relating the magnificent epic of Frodo and his friends in an imaginary Middle-earth.

NOVELS OF SCIENCE FACTION. Every sci-fi fan has a favorite author: Ray Bradbury, perhaps, or Isaac Asimov. But one young friend who is a dedicated aficionado of the genre suggests that Asimov's "Foundation" trilogy, though written in the '50s, is one of the best introductions you can have to this fast growing field of popular fiction. Winner of the Hugo Award for the best all-time science fiction series, the trilogy tells of the rise and fall of future empires, and of the Foundation's struggles to produce an ideal universal ruling corporation. Read "Foundation" first. If you like it, go on to "Foundation and Empire" and "Second Foundation."

Another older classic in science fiction is Robert Heinlein's "Stranger in a Strange Land." It's been out about 10 years now, but is still greatly loved and frequently quoted by the young.

NOVELS BY KURT VONNEGUT JR. Probably no author writing today has more fans, or more enthusiastic fans, especially among the young, than Kurt Vonnegut Jr., who's as famous for his far out imagination and humor as for his great storytelling talents. "Slaughterhouse Five" (1969) is perhaps the best known of his books, but my own favorites are "Player Piano" (1952), a novel of a totally automated American society of the future, and "Welcome to the Monkey House," a collection of his shorter works. If you like these, join me in looking forward to Vonnegut's next novel, "Breakfast of Champions," to be published this fall. It's about a Pontiac salesman who, in Vonnegut's words, "tries to find out if he's anything more than a machine."

NOVELS OF THE YOUNG. If you're intrigued with the migratory habits of the young, you'll cherish Mary McCarthy's "Birds of America." Published last year, this warm and witty novel deals mainly with Peter Levi, a modern innocent abroad (for his junior year at the Sorbonne). Peter has his problems and mis-adventures. But he also has a rare sensitivity, plus a deep attachment to "his other mother, Nature." Not the least of his many endearing qualities is his habit of taking his plant (a Fatshedera) for a weekly walk.

NOVELS FOR THE YOUNG AND VERY YOUNG. This is a major category all by itself, and I hope to write a column soon on books that are as enjoyable for the adult doing the reading (such as you) as for the child being read to. Meanwhile, check your children's library for the current favorite at our house: "The Phantom Tollbooth" by Norton Juster.

Brain Research Week Declared

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has declared October 15-21 as Brain Research Week in Illinois. He did so at the specific request of the Junior Organization on the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

This is the third such week designated by the governor, and it is a time of concentrated effort on the part of the Women's Clubs throughout the state to have programs about the brain and nervous system illnesses, and to mobilize support for the Brain Research Foundation and the $8-½ million Brain Research Institute to be built at the University of Chicago's Midway campus.

This year Arlington Heights Juniors will donate to the cause through proceeds from their "Circus Show" headlining Ned Locke and "Cookie the Clown" of TV's Bozo's Circus, on Nov. 19 at Prospect High school. Members will also be raising money through the sale of Tootsie Roll banks at the Bank & Trust Company of Arlington Heights, Northwest Trust and Savings Bank, and the Arlington National Bank.

JUNIOR CLUBS in Illinois have contributed more $200,000 over the past decade to advance this research activity. "Arlington Juniors have conducted many events aimed to raise funds to cope with the more than 200 brain and nervous system disabilities which afflict well over 10 per cent of all people and which cost untold millions in loss of wages, costs of care, and human heartbreak," siad the club's president, Mrs. Carl Kramer.

The Brain Research Foundation is an Illinois not-for-profit corporation, an affiliate of the University of Chicago founded late in 1953. The Foundation is concerned with a host of diseases and conditions, including the basic causes of strokes, epilepsy, brain tumor, tremor diseases, mental illness, behavioral disorders, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, Parkinson's disease, headache and other brain-related illnesses.

The Home Line
by Dorothy Ritz

As the French chefs have made so clear, much of the art in cooking centers on the sauce. Mrs. Jack Simons proved it with a fillet of beef which she baked for 35 minutes at 400 degrees (a 3-pound cut). But, ah, that sauce!

She boils ½ cup of chopped green onions (or shallots) with 1½ cups of dry red wine until it is reduced a little in volume. When this is slightly cooled, she adds ¼ pound butter, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, about 1½ teaspoons salt (added and tasted) and ¼ teaspoon of freshly ground pepper. The sauce, of course, came on the side and was poured over each slice of beef. Delicious.

Dear Dorothy: All of us have trouble with the wooden handles on utensils getting charred and I figured you might be interested in my repair method. The handle on a frying pan was in a bad way. It is the kind with a long rod through the center and I unscrewed this rod and then carefully wrapped enough aluminum foil around the lower end to replace the scorched-out portion and then replaced the handle. It works great.—Harriet S.

Dear Dorothy: How can you tell if the squash or zucchini you bought is tender enough to be cooked without peeling?—Maya T.

If the rind is easily punctured with the fingernail, the squash should be tender (including the seeds) and need not be peeled.

Dear Dorothy: I've been following a routine that started with my grandmother. I always use a cup of white vinegar in the final rinse with my laundry — even if it's hand-washed. There is never a trace of soap or detergent.—Mrs. G. G.

Nye Hilarious In 'Charley's Aunt'

by GENIE CAMPBELL

Recommendations for "Charley's Aunt" are simple. If you like the ridiculous, get a charge out of slapstick and, most of all, enjoy the comic antics of character actor Louis Nye, then by all means take in the show currently being staged at Arlington Park Theatre.

To use a phrase that has outlived its heyday, "It's a gas." But then, "Charley's Aunt" is not something new. The period play has been around a long time. It and Louis Nye, who plays the title role, have become synonymous.

And while the three-act comedy will never come away with theatrical awards for awe-inspiring acting or a sterling script, its worth can be measured in large dosees of pure, unadulterated fun. Can you guess? . . . Everything ends happily ever after.

The play's setting is Oxford University in England 1892. Two young collegians, Jack and Charley, have fallen in love. The impending visit of Charley's aunt, whom the boys have never seen, opens the way to invite their girlfriends for tea. The presence of the aunt, who will be chaperone, make the entire affair very prim and proper. Keep in mind, now, that the year is 1892.

THE FUN BEGINS when Charley's aunt, Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez, doesn't show up and Lord Fancourt Babberly, an eccentric gent who is still a student though his age is double that of his young classmates, is persuaded to pose as the missing aunt.

This, of course, is Louis Nye, who comes on stage looking like a muscle-bound Whistler's Mother.

"Hi, I'm Charley's aunt from Brazil where the nuts come from."

Nye's clown-like antics, particularly his attempts at feigning femininity, make the show come alive.

The outlandish circumstances continue to build as Nye is wooed by two different gentlemen and the real Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez shows up.

Nye's facial expressions (unfortunately in theater-in-the-round not everyone can see everything all the time) and his accentuated movements, highlighted by his spontaneous foot shuffles, keep the audience responding loudly.

Without Nye, the three-act play would grow tedious as it does in the first act when the stage is being set for the action ahead.

THE LARGE CAST does a passable job of backing up Nye though the only one that really stands out is Edgar Daniels as Stephen Spettigue, a beastly man who makes a complete fool of himself trying to win the affections of Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez, the imposter that is. The chase scenes, with Daniels on the heels of Nye, are hilarious.

I was pleased to see Bill Morey, one of my favorite Chicago area actors, in the production though his role as Brassett, the valet, is rather restricted.

David Mink and David Hull play Jack and Charley and Rebecca Phillips and Adele Malis are the two girlfriends, Kitty and Amy. While Rebecca does an admirable job, Miss Malis overdramatizes to an uncomfortable degree. Her lines are sometimes just gibberish.

Both set design and costuming go a long way in portraying the period for "Charley's Aunt." No shortcuts have been taken, particularly in the gowns worn by the female members of the cast. And that also goes for Louis Nye's wig.

"Charley's Aunt" has been extended at Arlington Park Theatre through Sunday, Nov. 5. Directing the production is Jim Burrows.

That's when gentle electric drying really pays off.

Clothes are an expensive investment.
That's why it's nice to have the gentleness of an electric dryer on hand. An electric dryer is very, very gentle on clothes because it dries with a very gentle kind of heat. Radiant heat. That means it dries things the same nice way the sun does.
Many models even have an electronic sensor inside the dryer door to make sure things never over-dry. That's really important when it comes to permanent press.
An electric dryer is as gentle as a dryer can be to clothes.
Remember that the next time you invest in a new dress.

Forest View's The Issue

Gym Coverage Assailed

I feel a definite need to reply to Wandalyn Rice's column regarding special interest groups. First of all, let me say I do not have a student attending Forest View, although we've had two daughters graduate from there. We presently have a student at Rolling Meadows as did four other parents sitting around me. Since I have been a resident of Arlington Heights since 1939 and graduated from Arlington High School in 1947, and have served on the citizen's committee of 1966, I feel I can definitely say I am concerned with the so-called "big picture."

My first complaint is that Miss Rice and Mr. Costello arrive at this meeting 2¼ hours after it began. How are they qualified to judge this situation from first-hand knowledge when they were present for the final 15 minutes of discussion? Mrs. Wellman apparently did not give Miss Rice very good notes on the events up to this time.

These concerned parents and taxpayers came in good faith with reasonable and legitimate questions. They wanted answers, but neither the board nor administrators could do this. Why wasn't the roof covered to prevent further damage in the past 70 days? Everyone knows how often it has rained since July 14. Why hasn't the water been pumped out to eliminate the breeding place for mosquitoes? What will happen if we have a freeze before this building is closed in? Why hasn't someone followed up to see why the contractor is not and has not been working on the job? Why isn't there a penalty clause in the contract? Why isn't something being done now about the bids for the gym floor? it would be rather questionable to wait for this admittedly slow contractor to finish the roof work before getting bids on the floor. Would this involve another 70 day delay? We were listening to Dr. Weber very closely and there was no mention of any floor costing $30,000. No cost was quoted at any time at this meeting. I would be interested in finding out where Miss Rice got her information, apparently she has a private source.

Rather, the question asked was, since Forest View had damage to the gym floor five years ago and the same floor has to be replaced again, wouldn't it be more practical to go to a different type of floor that could withstand water better than the present type of floor?

This group was more than willing to grant the board the courtesy of listening to explanations, in fact this is why they were present. The probem was there were no explanations available because no one bothered to check and see if any work was being done. The parents left after 2½ hours of board meetings, not one hour as Miss Rice says. They left because no more progress could be made at this time, but they will return Monday, Oct., 2 and Oct. 9 and as long as it takes to get action on a situation which has been sadly neglected far too long already.

Mrs. J. Donovan
Arlington Heights

EDITOR'S NOTE: Reporter Rice says that when Weber mentioned the $30,000 extra cost figure for a new gym floor, most of the people in the room were hooting, booing and shouting questions — and thus could not hear Weber speak.

Nixon Voters Termed 'Anything But Kind'

For the past two weeks my wife and I have been canvassing our neighborhood doing what we consider a very patriotic action: namely, helping to register residents so that they may not lose their vote in the November election. We are not received patriotically at times, however. Invariably when a Nixon supporter hears us identify ourselves as volunteers for the Maine Township citizens for McGovern, we are recipients of insulting remarks or actions. Obviously everyone is entitled in conscience to his or her opinion and to vote for whomever he or she chooses best for the office. But I wonder what it is that stirs up so many Nixon supporters to become emotionally disturbed, close-minded, and anything but kind and considerate when greeting a stranger at the door. Only if the issues are faced logically, unblinded by emotions or prejudice, can one hope to vote conscientiously come November 7. I hope this is food for thought for everyone because the world will be better or worse for the next four yeats depending on how truthfully the issues are faced and voted upon.

Meadows 'Apathy' Lost

This is really my last letter concerning this matter. In the past, I, along with some brothers and sisters, did a lot. Most of which stirred up some controversy. In some cases, the truth was sort of reversed. I am asking you to print this for better coverage. Your coverage is quite better than mine is. I am sort of apologizing for the past. It seems that people remember the past better than they live in the future. It also seems that they are a little reluctant to forgive mistakes. I believe in the things that I stood up for, on the most part, anyway. A lot was accomplished during city council meetings and park board meetings. In fact we received not only experience, but a temporary, maybe even a permanent, loss of apathy. The apathy that held Rolling Meadows youth from accepting any responsibility for themselves. We also received a place to go during the cold weather. Though we were shut down a few times last year, we have gotten open for this year. Right at the moment it is only open on Friday night, but that's a start. To stay open and be able to expand, we need not only the support and work amongst the teens, but the support in every way of the parents, the civic leaders and adults in Rolling Meadows.

I am not and never was a Communist. I did what I thought at the time was the right thing to do. If my allegiance to America was ever questioned, I'm sorry it was. I don't believe in the phrase of "love it or leave it" or "my country, right or wrong," I prefer, "Fix it where it's wrong." And the first place to fix it is right here in the community. We've got to work together to right those wrongs. If we don't we lose everything we value or ever have valued. In closing, all I've got to say is if you thought I was wrong, forgive me. But that's the past and you can't change the past. And help us in any way that you can. I remain in peace.

Short Hours Backed

The Herald has published many columns against the butchers and their stand about working after 6 but the most ridiculous column is the one by R. Capettini, "Buther Plan to Cut Crime." This is an insult to my intelligence. This article written "tongue-in-cheek" is unbelievably bad—not even funny but stop and think about it, it seems more sad. How true it is that our crime rate is so bad when adults and/or parents must work at night?

The overwhelming vote of the butchers was 4 to 1 which proves there are still some facets of the working public who do choose and still have the right to choose some main working conditions. (Hurrah for the pharmacists and their stand against late hours and for better benefits. I for one hope they succeed in their stand. You are not helping their cause either.

Your goal seems to be — further the big business and downgrade the little businessman and labor man. Why? What have they done to you? You are a successful newspaper . . . why are you making it so difficult for the independent working people? They have a hard enough time trying to compete with big business in the day-to-day existence of high prices, long hours and less family life.

But back to the working people, themselves. Those of us who always worked the 9 to 5 shift did feel for those policemen, firemen, gas men, telephone people, etc., who worked split-shifts and nights. I feel we have always said a silent thank you to the public servants who are such a tremendous help in storms, fire, disaster, etc., etc. Some men actually like the shifts while others never did but accepted it or changed jobs. Did the families of these men ever get to use the split shifts . . . they deserve a thank you too because it is not an easy way to live.

Won't it be great to think the butchers, barbers, bakers, druggists, doctors, dentists, etc., were stopping only a percentage of the crime on the streets because the man of the house was home at night with his family instead of only the mother and her children.

Since this letter is so biased against your stand . . . would you print it for others to read?

P.S. — Like the butcher vote against working after 6 was 4 to 1, your articles backing the late hours has been running as great a majority against them. Is that really honest too?

Watching From Above

'Rich Aided By Nixon'

Nixon puts a ceiling on wages, but none on profits. He leaves huge loopholes in the tax laws so the rich do not have to pay. He has increased his own personal fortune while he was in the White House to three quarters of a million dollars and has built himself palatial estates in California and Florida.

But he wants a fatherless family of four to live on starvation wages — less than $1,700 a year for three children and their mother — because it is good for their souls or something. I believe he calls it fostering independence.

These are signs of what can be expected if Nixon is given another four years as President. His economic policy, if there really is one, is causing ever more unemployment.He pushed for more and more billions for the Pentagon but vetoes expenditures for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Nixon's economics are designed to help his rich friends and backers get richer. The workingman, the poor, the sick, the old all get the short end of the stick. How long will it take the people to see Nixon for what he is?

Auxiliary Fashion Show Is Applauded

My heartfelt thanks to the many (too numerous to mention) dedicated people responsible for the enjoyable afternoon I spent recently attending the Northwest Community Hospital Auxiliary fashion show and luncheon.

Several prominent doctors and staff members of the hospital participated in the fashion show and proved to be competition for the professional models, simply great.

Needless to say much organized work and planning was involved in making this event a huge success. My congratulations to each and every one of you.

Incidentally, what ever are you going to buy for Aunt Minnie this year? The holidays are just around the corner and you haven't even begun to plan your list. On October 27, the volunteers and Auxilians of lovely Pink Lady Gift Shop, have been working diligently (the majority of the year) in preparation for the annual Boutique Noel, pre-Christmas sale, held at Northwest Community Hospital. Many of these items are handmade and created by the tremendous talents of truly gifted individuals. Let's all do our fair share and really support this outstanding group of workers. At the same time, you'll be doing yourself a huge favor. Please mark your calendar today (feel better already, don't you?)

Our lovely Christmas cards are on display, why not place your order early this year? That's the spirit!

Now that we have already helped you to feel somewhat organized for the busy holiday season, don't forget to include a small remembrance for that special elderly person or perhaps a shut-in who may be forgotten entirely by Santa. Our selection is unlimited.

What am I planning to do on October 27? You guessed it — work as a volunteer, of course. Hope to see you all soon.

P.S. — Having recently returned to the business world, find I truly miss all my good friends and co-workers at Northwest Hospital.

Budget Control Needed

Many residents of communities in Illinois are alarmed at the specter of financial crisis brought about by uncontrolled spending and budgets of governmental units — federal, state, county, township and local units, i.e. villages, schools, parks, etc. All governmental units should be called upon to:

—Project all major expenditures over a five-year period;

—Evaluate all programs at least every three years (zero-based budgeting);

—Pilot test every new proposed program before it is budgeted;

—Eliminate programs with duplicate similar programs of other governmental units;

—Designate a citizens watchdog committee to evaluate the proposed annual budgets in terms of priorities.

Uncontrolled governmental unit spending has literally exploded the budgets. Elected officials must realize that they just cannot throw more money into a problem to make it go away. It is essential that the old ideeas hidden in worn-out programs give way to a new process.

Revenue Sharing 'Socialism'

I would like to comment on an article which appeared in the Herald of Thursday, September 14. The heading on the article in question was "Eye Revenue Sharing Projects Here."

It seems that the whole theme and purpose of this article was to justify the concept of federal revenue sharing as a panacea that will somehow magically solve all of our local problems which have the annoying habit of cropping up every week or so.

Of course it is a foregone conclusion that Governor Ogilvie has been an advocate and proponent of federal revenue sharing ever since God only knows which federal bureaucrat in Washington, while sipping a dry martini, no doubt prepared by his butler, first dreamed up the idea of federal revenue sharing.

And if we are to judge from his statements to the press, our Arlington Heights Village President is beginning to feel a warm glow over the prospect of all this "free money" flowing into the village. There is one small problem, though. Wouldn't it be a shame if he suddenly got more free money than he and the Board could find projects to spend it on — of course it is unlikely that they would ever be remiss enough to allow a catastrophe of his magnitude to occur.

I never cease to be astounded at the naivete displayed by many public officials with regard to the most elementary principles of economic and fiscal matters. For the express benefit of those, whoever they might be, who are eagerly awaiting this munificent windfall which they somehow consider to be "free money," I would present the following economic facts of life:

The United States has no money of its own. It only has the money it has taken away from the people in the form of taxes. The United States Government (this means the people) is at the present time over four-hundred billions of dollars in debt — and the interest that must be paid on this staggering sum amounts to forty billions of dollars per year. Every man, woman and child in the United States, including those unborn, owes on this national debt a pro rata share in excess of five-thousand dollars. In fact, an innocent infant owes this sum when it it born — and since this national debt has been growing each year, a baby who is born next year will owe more than a baby who is born this year — to say nothing of the amount that will be owed five, or even ten years from now.

I can't help wondering why many of these persons, who, like Pavlov's dogs, begin to salivate each time they hear the two magic words: "government subsidy," don't realize, as they walk about with those brass coins in their pockets and those fiat wallpaper dollars in their pocketbook, that the only reason we have inflation is because their money has no intrinsic value. Also I wonder how many of them understand that we owe more gold to foreign countries — which is known as the balance of payments deficit, than we will ever be able to pay. In other words, ladies and gentlemen, for all practical purposes the United States of America is insolvent.

Since the United States is bankrupt, there is only one legacy she will be able to share with the States, and that is, simply stated, more debt and a bigger deficit. And of course, for every printing press dollar that is placed in circulation, in excess of whatever is at present in circulation, there will be a corresponding increase in the interest that must be paid on the national debt. And every one of these new dollars which must be signed by the Secretary of the Treasury, in the name of the people of the United States, represents a promissory note against the future labor and income of every American for years to come.

Is there anyone who still feels that federal revenue sharing represents some sort of gratuity which is being bestowed upon them by a kindly public official or a Congress who's onlyintent is to represent the best interests of those who they are supposed to be responsible to?

It is interesting to note that Senators Percy and Stevenson voted against the Senate version of the bill. But did they do so because they recognized that it was basically an evil? Of course not — they voted against it only because they felt that "it wasn't enough "

How did your U.S. Congressman vote on the House version of this one-way vehicle toward socialism, perpetual debt and fiscal and economic irresponsibility?

Why not make it your business to find out—and if he voted against it unequivocally—return this man to office next November — he's on your side

Township Vote Draws Backing

The picture and caption on Page One of the Palatine Herald of September 28 spoke eloquently for the position taken by the League of Women Voters on the abolition of township government.

The concern expressed by some about the "transitional porcess," in taking over of functions, powers, etc. of the township government is misplaced. The picture in the Herald shows only one example of a township function performed by the county. There are others.

Having attended several town and budget meetings in the past, one comes away with the impression that the township's "function" is to spend several hundred thousand dollars annually in self-perpetuation.

Republicans Blasted

The little puppy-size 1952 Checkers Affair of Nixon seems pretty insignificant (except as a fore-warning) compared to the abominable snow-job on his 1972 Watergate fiasco, the $10 million silent partnership, ITT and other anti-trust settlements, bank charter deals, tax deals for industries such as steel, increased supports for the dairy industry, the smelly wheat deal and tax "investigations" of churches whose ministers object to war.

But in 1976 the Agnew Republicans won't have to worry about bad publicity. After four more years of control of the FBI, the Supreme Court and, they expect, the next Congress, our TV and press will be as effectively silenced as the German press were after Hitler's election. His friend, Thieu, is showing Nixon a new way to stop press criticism.

Regardless of how you vote for local officials, vote for your freedoms when you vote for President, vote for McGovern and Shriver this Nov. 7 — or next time your vote may not count.

Ex-Local Resident Hits Rolling Meadows Police Chief

Living In Oak Park Is 'An Exciting Experience'

After living and working in the Arlington Heights area for 17 years I have chosen to move to Oak Park. I would not attempt to justify my personal priorities by vilifying your community. I am dismayed to find that your fine paper has allowed Lewis Case to do so to Oak Park. He displays a serious lack of judgment in using his position as police chief of Rolling Meadows to indulge in personal sour grapes. Whatever his reasons for leaving the Oak Park police department for the "shag carpets and swimming pools" of Rolling Meadows, such inaccurate and slanderous statements do nothing to prove his devotion to the future of that community. I would invite intelligent readers to visit Oak Park and then to seriously question the credibility of such an official.

We feel a personal sense of responsibility for what happens in Oak Park in the future. I find it exciting to experience a similar sense of commitment in my neighbors and in the village management. A comprehensive plan for the village's future, available for your perusal, is evidence of their intelligent concern. By allowing Lewis Case a forum for his spitefulness you have displayed irresponsible journalism and done Oak Park incalculable harm. I believe you owe the village the dignity of equal space for intelligent reporting about this vital community.

'Three Cheers' For Township Vote Rejection

Three cheers for the Palatine Twp. Board of Auditors in rejecting the League of Women Voters' proposed referendum on township government.

As township residents we can assure the people of the village of Palatine and the city of Rolling Meadows that if township functions are elminated, our taxes will skyrocket. None of us want to pay added dollars for the Chicago welfare mess, and I'm sure we don't want 40 or 50 county highway department loafers doing the job of two or three township men.

To the psyched-up busybodies of the League, we say you had better damned well look into the consequences of abolishing townships, rather than seeking a prize for your trophy case of "so-called" civic accomplishments.
